Difficult Roles In 'Craig's Wife' Are Portrayed

HIGH SCHOOL ACTORS SCORE NEW SUCCESS

Prize Pulitzer Play Is Successfully Given; To Be Repeated Tonight

BARBARA BRATSCHIE
Craig's Wife

A woman married to her home, and with her husband a mere figure-head or ornament, whichever you like, was the keynote of the melodrama "Craig's Wife" produced and registered as another dramatic triumph by the Senior High students on Thursday night in the high school auditorium. A well filled auditorium greeted the young artists in their opening performance.

The play written by George Kelly and awarded the Pulitzer prize, deals with an arrogant wife who is more of a hindrance than a help to her husband. The entire plot revolves around Mrs. Harriet Craig and her fond desire to make her home a solitary undisturbed and unruffled palace.

Essays Hard Role

Miss Barbara Bratschie was selected to fill the difficult role, and to say that her work in portraying the "independent" wife was good, would be putting it in mild terms. The part calls for plenty of pathos, an abundance of "up-stage" mannerisms and an air of dignity and

THREE DROWN AT AMBRIDGE

(International News Service)
AMBRIDGE, Pa., May 20.—Efforts were being made today to locate the bodies of three men, drowned last night, when a portion of the Ohio river bank caved in under a temporary railroad spur. The men were operating dump cars, and were pitched into the swirling waters as the river bank gave away.

The dead were Dominic Dale, Woodlawn; Val Glon and a man called "Mike" both of whose addresses were unknown.

All three men were employes of the Kennedy Brothers Contracting Co., of Youngstown, Ohio, and were unloading dirt onto the Ohio river bank where the accident occurred.

Canton Detective Given Life Term For Mellett Plot

(International News Service)
CANTON, Ohio, May 20.—Sentence of life imprisonment in the Ohio State Penitentiary, with solitary confinement each year on July 6 (the anniversary of the murder) was the penalty pronounced upon Floyd Streitenberger, ex-detective of Canton, today by Judge Frank Clevenger, for the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher. Mellett was assassinated by gunmen last summer. Streitenberger was found guilty of first degree murder for alleged complicity in the killing by a jury which recommended mercy, this week. Two other men are serving life sentences for the murder.

Secures Court Injunction To Oust Mother-in-Law

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—Young wives and prospective brides-to-be are highly interested today in a suit filed in common pleas court here whereby a young wife is attempting to get rid of an objectionable mother-in-law by securing an injunction.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Emily Ess, 21, has filed a bill in equity against both her husband and his mother seeking ousting of her mother-in-law from their home.

The mother-in-law has been living with the young couple and Mrs. Ess complains she "ran things" in the home even to the point of enforcing bachlerhood upon Frederick the husband, who was forced to sleep in the attic.

So the younger Mrs. Ess wants the elder thrown out of their home as "a common nuisance and trespasser." The wife offers to support her mother-in-law elsewhere—as long as she gets out of their home.

Indiana Fears Serious Flood; Levee Breaks

Western Section Of Indiana Faces Flood Situation As Levee Portion Goes Out

NATIONAL GUARDS ARE CALLED OUT

White River, Rising Nine Inches An Hour, Threatens Small Towns

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, May 20.—The western part of Indianapolis which escaped the fury of Wednesday's cyclonic winds, today faced a serious flood threat as the result of a fifteen foot break in the White river levee at Warfleigh.

So serious became the situation this morning three companies of Indiana National Guardsmen were ordered out to combat the raging waters with sandbags. In addition hundreds of volunteers answered radio appeals and reinforced a large number of police officers and firemen.

Reports here stated the dam at Noblesville was opened to prevent its collapse.

Two Pittsburgh Bank Officials Are Under Arrest

Two Officials Of Pittsburgh Deposit And Title Company Arrested

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 20.—The arrest of two officials of the closed Pittsburgh Deposit and Title company came as a surprise today to the 8,000 depositors, many of whom live in Venango, Mercer and Butler counties.

While the bank was closed on January 7, because of "frozen assets" there had been no intimation until late yesterday that arrests might be expected. A. C. Leslie, president and E. E. Reiss secretary-treasury were arrested as was J. C. Umstead, of the Central Home company.

The bank officials were arraigned before an alderman on charges of conspiracy, embezzlement and taking funds from the bank after it was closed. The disappearance of some $290,000 must be explained bank examiners said. Umstead was released in $15,000 bail, charged with conspiracy. The other men furnished $25,000 bail each.

Hundreds of depositors were attracted to the bank by the high rate of interest it paid, 5 per cent. Among these were 3,000 school children who deposited $18,000, but they will lose nothing because a wealthy donor whose identity has not been disclosed has guaranteed their deposits.

The bank is understood to have had $1,067,000 in deposits.

Plans and specifications for the resurfacing of Crawford avenue between East Main street and Croton avenue were approved by members of city council today. The cost of the improvement will be paid by the city and the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric Company.

Wins High Honor In Musical World

Miss Loretta Lee.

Music lovers of New Castle will recognize the young lady whose picture is shown herewith, but to those who have not had the pleasure of hearing her sing, this is Miss Loretta C. Lee, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Lee of Delaware avenue, who has been given the coveted Vocal Diploma of Peabody Institute, Baltimore, Md.

Miss Lee is a graduate of New Castle high school, class of 1921, and has been a student in Peabody for the past six years. The awarding of the vocal diploma to her is but the third time in the 57 years history of the school that such a thing has been done, the other two being Mable Garrison of the Metropolitan Opera and Bertram Peacock, light opera star who sang the lead roll in "Blossom Time."

It is probable that Miss Lee will be home for a short vacation within the next few weeks.

Butler Man Is New President

Former New Castle Druggist Is Elected At Convention Here Thursday

NEXT CONVENTION IS SET FOR ERIE

At the executive session of the Western Pennsylvania Druggist association Thursday in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Clarance C. Dickson of Butler, Pa., formerly of New Castle, was elected as president, succeeding Scott Paisley of this city.

Other officers elected were E. M. Callaghan of Monaca, Pa., vice president; J. C. Stouffer of Pittsburgh, secretary, and E. H. Sone of Oil City, as treasurer.

During the session Indiana, Westmoreland, Washington, Greene and Jefferson counties were accepted into membership in the organization and arrangements made to have the official magazine of the organization sent to all members.

While the men were in session the wives of the delegates and guests were entertained by a committee of local women of which Mrs. J. Myron Rice was chairwoman. The ladies were taken for an inspection of the Rieck-McJunkin Ice Cream plant, the New Castle Field club and for a ride over the highways adjoining the city.

While the meeting was on in the evenig a bridge party was held for the ladies.

The next meeting of the W. P. R. D. A. will be in Erie, Pa., some time this summer.

Druggists Hear Discussion Of Vital Problems

PAISLEY PRESIDES DURING SESSIONS

Convention Most Successful Organization Has Yet Conducted

There must have been a lot of drug stores in Western Pennsylvania minus services of the owner on Thursday evening, for about 800 of them were in New Castle, attending the banquet of the convention of the organization in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

From every county in the western tier they were present, and if their own word is good, the occasion was the biggest event the Western Pennsylvania druggists have ever held. Certainly they enjoyed it for their words of commendation were borne out by that pleasing uproar which emanates from a crowd having a big evening.

Plenty of Chicken

Apparently there are a lot of Methodists among the Pill Pounders for there was a chicken dinner served in the dining room at six thirty which would have pleased anyone save a chronic dyspeptic. At each plate there was an armful of souvenirs, candy, chewing gum and other articles sold by the druggists, and after the dinner a drawing in which some 150 of the guests won prizes varying from a case of toothpaste to an automobile bumper.

Scott Paisley, who retired as president last night, presided at the banquet table and seated at the head table with him were men high in the drug world, public officials and special guests. Rev. H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First M. E. church pronounced the invocation and the crowd sang America, with the Consistory orchestra playing the accompaniment, directed by Judy Sypher.

Food was the important thing for the next half hour, the meal being served by the women of the Wimodausis. At the conclusion of the meal, President Paisley introduced the newly elected president, Clarence C. Dickson of Butler, Pa., a former New Castle man and presented him with a mortar and pestle which is to be used as a gavel for the organization.

A little later C. C. Campbell, chairman of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Board presented President Dickson with the pen used by Governor John S. Fisher in signing the Druggists' Ownership Act. James K. Love, who was one day a druggist but who reformed a few years ago, was introduced and drew the prizes. Not every one drew a prize of course, but those who did were pleased with what the Fates brought them. During the course of the dinner the orchestra played a number of selections and the Castle Quartet composed of

Memorial Day Plans Complete

Committee Meets On Thursday Evening And Decides On Features

SWICK TO MAKE MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Final details for the observance of Memorial Day this year were completed at the meeting of the Memorial Day committee, consisting of representatives of the Spanish-American War Veterans, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Sons of Union Veterans, which was held last evening at the Legion home.

Reports received from the various sub-committees indicate that the observance this year will be one of the best in years, every person assigned for special duty on that day making every effort to do the work assigned.

New Plan This Year

One of the new plans being tried out this year is that of having the representatives of the various service and patriotic organizations in charge of the observance and their affiliated organizations who have been assigned to speak to the school children on next Friday afternoon meet at the Legion home at one o'clock on that day.

Under the plan made this year these representatives on assembling at that place will be assigned

Flood Fund Is Nearing $12,000

Contributions received late Thursday afternoon and this morning brought the Mississippi Flood Relief total to about $11,500.00 and with the number of accounts for tickets yet to some in, it is probable that by Saturday night the grand total will be about $12,500.00.

Officers of the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross are hoping to bring the total to $15,000.00 before contributions stop and this amount will be reached if the people will only send in their money.

BATH, Mich., May 20.—With the death list from the dynamiting of the Bath consolidated school now standing at 44 and threatening to increase, Bath township began today to bury its dead.

Today, Saturday and Sunday will be days of funerals and mourning, two of the victims of the disaster being buried this morning and six this afternoon.

The official investigation into the madness that drove Andrew Kehoe to seek to murder everyone in the school and perhaps every one in Bath township was adjourned last night until Monday.

William C. Searl, Clinton county prosecutor ,announced today that his investigations have led him to discredit rumors that Kehoe had an accomplice in his work of wiring the school building for his time clock and dynamite charges.

"I am convinced," Searl said, "that Kehoe was all alone in this." Testimony of the school janitors showed that one of the rear doors of the school building had been sprung on its hinges so that it could not be closed tight or locked during the last six weeks. Working in the space between the ground and the floors of the parts of the building where there was no basement, Kehoe might have proceeded night after night for weeks.

ROOSEVELT FLYING FIELD, N. Y., May 20.—Braving the perils of rainstorms and fog over the north Atlantic, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, the young dare-devil American aviator, hopped off on the 3,600-mile non-stop, transoceanic flight for Paris this morning in his Ryan monoplane, "Spirit of St. Louis".

Lindbergh took the air at 7:52 o'clock.

Flying alone, and carrying only sandwiches, a few chocolate bars and some distilled water, Lindbergh departed in misty weather. Rain earlier in the night had ceased at four o'clock.

His machine had been brought here from its hangar at Curtis Flying Field at 4:30 o'clock in order to take advantage of the specially prepared runway nine-tenths of a mile in length.

The "flying fool" traveled almost a mile, nine-tenths to be exact, before his plane rose from the ground. He flew very low and passed out of sight of the thousands of watchers at the field at an altitude of only 200 feet.

Five hours after the take-off, at 11:52 this morning, Lindbergh's whereabouts was a mystery. Several reports from New England that the "Spirit of St. Louis" had been sighted proved upon further investigation to be false. Army planes had been mistaken for the Ryan monoplane. The last glimpse obtained of the "flying fool" was when he turned northeast off Montauk Point and started up the coast soon after his take-off.

The first of the men who for days have been waiting for good weather to make the hop-off on the long 3,600-mile flight, headed straight east as he took to the air. The young pilot of the "Spirit of St. Louis" had planned to circle the field three times as a final engine test before starting out on his lone flight, but he evidently changed his mind after leaving the ground and decided to be on his way without any more delay.

"Good luck, old man", he shouted. "I'll see you in Paris."

Lindbergh only grinned.

A great cheer rose from the packed thousands of watchers on the field, who were held back by heavy police detachments as the silver colored plane, glinting in the faint sun which shone through a fast disappearing mist, rose from the ground, its engine roaring a last farewell.

Lindbergh's plane carried a total weight of 5,130 pounds, said by officials to be the heaviest load ever taken off the field by a monoplane. The final load of gasoline had been taken aboard just before the start.

Wish Good Luck

Among those to wish the young aviator good luck on the non-stop flight to Paris, a feat which never yet has been accomplished, was Clarence Chamberlin, who had hoped to hop off on the 3,600-mile hop before this in the Columbia Aircraft Corporation's Bellanca monoplane. Chamberlin's flight is held up by litigation between the corporation and Lloyd Bertaud, his co-pilot. Bertaud was not at the field this morning.

Carries Little Provisions

Lindbergh, who was hardly known to the general public until a short time ago, when he made a sensational trip across the country from San Diego in two hops, carried almost no provisions with him. He had a few sandwiches and some water. Not even coffee was taken to assist him on the long trip.

LAST WORDS

(International News Service)
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., May 20.—"Lucky" Lindburgh has no sense of false security in his Ryan monoplane as he speeds toward Pairs, 3,600 miles away. Just before taking off this morning he shook hands with friends and said good-bye.

"When I get into that plane," he told them, "it will be like getting into a death chamber. If I get out in Paris it will be like a pardon from the governor."

A few minutes later he was on his perilous journey.

Arthur Mometer

My shoes are good and my socks are whole and I haven't a single care, and to all intents and purposes I'm as good as a millionaire. For a fellow can't wear but one suit at a time, and shoes just cover the feet, and I have the privilege just as he, to walk down most any street. The sun is out just as much for me as the fellow with lots of kale, and both of us are the same in this, we haven't been put in jail. Of course he has more cash than I, and of course more money he spends, but I'm betting him, oh say a couple of stamps, that he hasn't got any more friends. So I'm egotistic enough to think that he hasn't a thing on me, for the only difference is in the cash the weather is sixty three.

Railroad Merger Plans Are Denied

Interstate Commerce Commission Denies Southwestern Railroad Merger Rights

VANSWERINGEN CASE MAY SUFFER ALSO

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Another proposed railroad merger, involving southwestern lines, has gone on the works and Washington experts today predicted that the proposed billion dollar Van Sweringen merger would share a similar fate.

In denying the application of the Kansas City Southern to acquire the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and the St. Louis Southwestern to acquire the latter through purchase of capital stock, the interstate commerce commission dealt a stunning blow to the ambitious plans of L. F. Loree.

Loree not only wanted to link up these Southwestern lines but he is also endeavoring to have the Delaware & Hudson, of which he is president, lease the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh and form a physical connection between the two roads under trackage rights over Pennsylvania lines between the Buttonwood and Dubois, Pa. This proposal is now before the commission and apparently is destined to rejection.

Another of his plans contemplates the construction of a main line road across Pennsylvania from Allegheny to Easton and to be financed by the Harriman interests. This plan has once been rejected by the commission but the case has been reopened. The big eastern trunk line railroads are opposed to the new construction and the commission is likely to frown upon it again.

First Floor Filled

The crowd then adjourned to the auditorium where the meeting of the evening was held, and the first floor of the auditorium was filled. Prefatory to the opening of the meeting the crowd was treated to a demonstration of what light effects are possible in the auditorium and enjoyed it thoroughly.

President Paisley presided and made a short address opening the meeting. He then called upon one of Lawrence County's veteran druggists, John B. Haley to introduce the first speaker of the evening, H. S. Noel, of Indianapolis, Ind., editor of Tile and Till. Mr. Noel's subject was "Filling the Till." In it he pointed out the folly of carrying too many lines of one commodity, of the benefits of turning over stock quickly and of refusing to be stampeded by every gesture of the opposition. His address was interspersed with a number of witty stories.

Dr. Jacob Diner, dean of Fordham University Pharmaceutical School was the next speaker and had for his subject "Co-Operating to Conquer." Dr. Diner is the father of the druggists ownership idea, and through his work and the co-operation of the New York druggists got an ownership bill through the New York State Legislature. His address pointed out the vital necessity of co-operation on the part of the retail druggists or the consequent disaster to them.

Pill Pounder Politics

E. C. Brockmeyer, general counsel for the National Association of Retail Druggists was the last speaker of the evening and he dealt with the participation of druggists in politics. After urging that they interest themselves in the political questions of the day, and in the legislation which was being presented in the various legislatures, he summarized the things the druggists want and the things they do not want.

They are:

What the Retailer Wants:

The Capper-Kelly Fair Trade Act.

Enforcement of the law against unfair opposition.

Reduction of the Federal Narcotic Registration tax.

Revision of the Federal Narcotic regulations to make them more workable both for pharmacists and physicians.

Revision of prohibition regulations so as to lighten the burden of retail druggists.

Regulation for the enforcement of the Federal Caustic acid law exempting retail druggists as the law provides.

State laws where necessary limiting the sale of drugs, medicines, and poisons requiring the skill of qualified pharmacists to the drug stores and prohibiting the use of the term "drug store" or similar designation by general merchants.

What the Retail Druggists Do Not Want

Federal and state cosmetic misbranding and tax laws.

Federal and state caustic acid laws.

State laws taxing soft drinks, cigarettes, food products, or other merchandise sold in drug stores.

A Federal law monopolizing the manufacture and distribution of spirits for medicinal purposes.

A Federal law holding retail druggists responsible for narcotic prescriptions written by physicians.

Arbitrary and capricious enforcement of narcotic, prohibition, or any other laws, State, Federal or local.

It was a splendid gathering, one of which the local druggists in charge can be proud, one which seems to augur well for the days to come.

poise; and Miss Bratschie unfolded a wealth of talent in handling the lines. Her previous experiences on the stage aided her in gaining the attention of the audience and she held the spotlight throughout the entire three acts, in a most trying role.

"Craig's Wife" is nothing more than an interpretation of some modern married life. Charles Knoblock as Walter Craig the husband and home-provider, was exceptionally good in his portrayal of the character. The part deals with a husband who comes home day after day to find his home but a four-walled affair, with little happiness and not one "spec" of dust. Walter it seems before his marriage to Harriet was a "roamer" and while he tries hard to adopt himself to the surroundings, he finds them strange and unlike his former habitude.

With his house toppling about his head, literaly speaking Walter Craig comes to life, emerges from his long sleep and finally throws off the cloak that has hidden the real meaning of home, and when he does he comes to a full realization of just how aloof Mrs. Craig has been. Walter winds up the whole affair by packing his bag and moving to the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

The three scenes of the play are laid in a fashionable New York residence.

Harriet Craig fought a losing battle against four people. Miss Eleanor Hutchinson carried out the part of Miss Austen in her usual clever manner. Miss Austen an aunt to Walter Craig finds that living with her nephew would be "heavenly" except for the unbearable manner in which Mrs. Craig treats everything in life. Miss Lucille Emery as the good old housekeeper who stands for the abuse showered upon her just long enough to make the play interesting, handled her role in a most gracious and pleasing manner.

Sylvia Martin did well in the part of Mazie the "Petite" maid. Mazie, too, found that living with Mrs. Craig called for something more than just work. Miss Marian Griffith as Ethel Landreth the niece was splendid. Ethel comes to the Craig home while her mother is dangerously ill. Miss Landreth is in love with Eugene Fredericks, a professor, part taken by Robert McKenzie.

Miss Rosalind Ehrlich as Mrs. Frazier a neighbor to the Craig's scored another dramatic success in her portrayal of the part of a lonely widow whose specialty happened to be a mignificant rose bower.

Billy Birkmire, the trusting friend of Walter Craig was taken in his usual fine manner by Norman Cotton. Little need be said of Cotton's ability to handle almost any role that is asigned to him. Birkmire and Craig get into a terrible jam when Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson Passmore are found slain in their home, but everything turns out for the best and the finger of accusation is lifted from their head.

Two big city detectives Joseph Catelle and Harry were taken by George Ruggy and Mac Chambers. Both boys had the air of officers allright and they made it most unpleasant for Mrs. Craig in a little third degree work.

The play ends with Mrs. Harriet Craig on the stage, a solitary lonely figure. Through her fond desire to help her husband by excluding all his friends and pretending to be a wife, she loses everything and is left a deserted woman.

Between acts the boys' and girls' glee clubs of Senior High school directed by Miss Isabel Zehner rendered two pleasing numbers. The Senior High orchestra under the direction of LaVerne Irvine as usual added color to the occasion by two fine selections.

Miss Clara Hartsuff dramatic instructor at the Senior High school worked hard with the play and her efforts were fully rewarded by the fine manner in which the students carried out the difficult roles.

The play will be repeated again tonight, with Norman Cotton as Mr. Craig, and Charles Knobloch as Billy Birkmire.

Airplane Wing Is Found At Sea

Not Believed To Have Come From Nungesser's Plane By Experts

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 20.—The piece of airplane wreckage picked up off the North Atlantic coast and towed into New London is not a part of Capt. The fliers were never sighted after passing over Ireland.

Officials at the coast guard base refused to comment on their find, or to describe the wing, pending their official report to Washington.

to the various schools. In this way it is planned that there will be one or more persons assigned to and be present at each school in the city on that afternoon.

In past years it has been the custom to assign persons from the various organizations to the different schools and permit them to go to the schools. It sometimes happened that none of the persons assigned were able to be there. It is thought the new method will eliminate a condition such as this.

Memorial Sermon

The annual Memorial sermon will be delivered next Sunday evening in the First M. E. church, with Rev. H. C. Weaver, D. D., pastor delivering the address. At 6:30 o'clock the same evening the usual water service at the banks of the Neshannock creek at Water street, in memory of soldiers, sailors and marines who made the supreme sacrifice at sea will be held under the auspices of the affiliated ladies' organizations of the Sons of Union Veterans. Dr. Charles B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, will make the address at this service. Captain M. L. Craig will be marshal of the parade held on this evening, as well as that on Memorial Day morning.

The annual Memorial Day services will be held on the morning of May 30 at the Capitol theater, with Congressman J. Howard Swick as the orator of the day. The other numbers of the program will be announced later.

At the conclusion of the service at the Capitol theater the parade will be formed with Captain Craig as marshal and proceed to Greenwood cemetery, where the Spanish-American War Veterans will hold the concluding services of the day at the soldiers' plot at that place.

Personal Mention

LINDBERGH ATTEMPTS FLIGHT ALONE; TAKES LITTLE PROVISION

which it is hoped will end Sunday morning when the "dare-devil" lands in Paris.

The take-off was sudden and unexpected, entirely in keeping with Lindbergh's desire to get away on his great adventure with the least amount of excitement. It was all in the day's work with him. Sudden activity was noticed in his hangar early this morning, and a crowd began to collect. The machine finally was taken over to the long get-off runway at Roosevelt Field and the gas taken aboard.

Lindbergh tested his struts and went over his plane carefully, and the watchers increased to well over 3,000. As soon as the gas was aboard he climbed to his place and the engine roared. After a few minutes of warming up Lindbergh turned to his mechanics and waved that he was about to take off.

As he "gave it the gun" he smiled calmly at the excited crowds, waved to Byrd and other friends, and roared on his way.

Making Terrific Speed.

PARIS, May 20.—Tense excitement was created here this afternoon when it became known that Charles Lindbergh had hopped off from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., for Paris.

Donald Harper, president of the National Aeronautic Association of the United States, called an urgent meeting of the Paris committee to make arrangements for a welcome to the daring young flier.

Lindbergh is expected to arrive here at about 1 o'clock Sunday morning, Paris time.

"The kid" attained a speed that other aviators described as "phenominal" soon after taking off. One of the newspaper planes capable of travelling 105 miles an hour was soon left far behind. Even before leaving the ground Lindbergh accelerated his engine to an unusual degree, and "bumped" on the muddy field several times before finally taking to the air.

Arthur Caperton, a Curtiss flier who attempted to keep up with the St. Louis aviator, said that he was doing "better than 100."

"He was hitting it up at terrific speed for the load he's carrying," Caperton said. "He was flying low to keep under a heavy fog blanket which would have blinded him if he'd tried for altitude.

If his motor failed he'd crack up no matter what height he was at, with that load, but his engine was hitting perfectly when he swung northeast at the end of Long Island. We left him there, or rather he left us. We couldn't keep up with him."

The flier took off in the very worst of field conditions. The runway was muddy and bumpy. As the Spirit of St. Louis started on its journey it careened from side to side slightly, giving mechanics and officials a moment of intense anxiety. Then as it picked up speed it steadied.

"But he can't take off at that speed, he's going too slow," yelled a mechanic. "Why doesn't he stop?"

Lindbergh was on his way, however, and nothing was going to prevent him from continuing. The silver monoplane bumped along, bouncing on the muddy runaway as it picked up, and it was almost a mile down the field that it finally got into the air.

Few moments later nothing was left, the plane having swiftly sped into the mists, straight out toward Montauk Point and the long lonely miles of the Atlantic.

For a few minutes the roar of the engine could be heard, and then there was nothing. "Daredevil" Lindbergh was truly on his way.

At 10 o'clock this morning, Admiral Eberle, chief of naval operations, broadcast the following message to all navy ships in the Atlantic:

"Pilot Lindbergh in land plane "Spirit of St. Louis," single engine monoplane, departed on great circle course for Land's End, England and Paris, at 6:52 A. M., New York time. Plane not equipped with radio. Request any ships sighting this plane to report that fact."

Naval flying experts were loud in their praise of Lindbergh's daring, but they were frankly pessimistic over his chances for success.

The fact that he chose the great circle course, they pointed out, will carry him north of the shipping lanes, and if he is forced down his chances of being picked up are exceedingly small as there are few ships plying that course. Nungesser and Coli flew the same course.

They also declared that Lindbergh has only a compass, carrying no navigator, and that compass flying over this route is extremely hazardous and liable to error. If he got off his course they believe he might wind up in Greenland.

PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

Festered and Scaled Over. Face Disfigured. Cuticura Heals.

"My trouble was a breaking out of pimples and blackheads on my face. The pimples were not very hard but varied in size. They festered and scaled over, and my face was disfigured. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time could see an improvement. I continued using them and now I am healed." (Signed) Miss S. F. Albino, 327 Midland Ave., Midland, Pa., July 1, 1926.

Keep your skin clear by using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum for daily toilet purposes. Touch pimples and itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment, bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Cuticura Talcum is fragrant and refreshing, an ideal toilet powder.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. X, Malden, Mass." Cuticura Shaving Stick 25c.

Mother Informed Flight Under Way

(International News Service)
DETROIT, May 20.—Capt. Chas. A. Lindbergh, 25-year-old "flying fool" has a mother's love and God-speed as he wings his way on the 3,600 mile non-stop trans-Atlantic flight from New York to Paris.

Notified by the International News Service of her son's hop-off Evangeline Lindbergh, chemistry teacher at Cass Technical High school, said.

"Oh, thank you very much for the information. My heart and soul is in his work and I am praying that he succeeds."

AUXILIARY MEETING

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity church met Thursday for the usual meeting. Luncheon was served at one o'clock in the Guild room with covers arranged for 30.

Following the luncheon an interesting program was carried out, which was featured by the giving of reports. A splendid talk was given on the "Near East Relief" work; also a report of the convention at Sharon and the convention of the Erie diocese, at Titusville, Pa., the latter being given by Rev. Philip C. Pearson.

An offering was received which will be sent to the archdeacon at Erie to be applied to the moving picture camera fund.

Women's Hygienic Worries
Ended by new way—
Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THANKS to modern scientific findings, women are now almost entirely relieved of old hygienic worries by a new way called Kotex.

You discard Kotex easily as tissue. Which ends laundry and disposal problems completely.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns, dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's fear—for this way is 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads."

Also, it deodorizes — ending all fear of offense.

You can obtain it at any store, without embarrassment, simply by saying "KOTEX." Box of 12 costs only a few cents.

Obtain today. Once you try it, you'll never again risk old ways. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

KOTEX

COMMENCERS

ALONG with June roses and June weddings comes the annual crop of good advice to graduates. "Success" is the topic. The world receives its yearly accession of school-trained youngsters with somewhat the same sense of hopes and fears and responsibilities that it feels for the babies. The boys and girls out of school are born again to new and enlarged phases of life experience, and the world is anxious about them.

What should seem simpler then than that the world should delegate its successful ones to give the formula of success to the new-comers? Pass the word along to the novices; you have succeeded; tell them how you did it. The result is disappointing or would be if it were taken seriously.

The oldheads can't tell the beginners the how. They themselves know very well how little of their achievement came about by their own efforts; how much was due to an admixture of chance, of favorable circumstances and boosting of others. There is no specific direction making straight the road to success. The elders never can persuade the boys and girls at commencement that they are to tread paths marked with footprints. The optimistic, eager, adventurous spirits, who for a whole year have been accustomed to the dignity of being called "seniors," are bent on nothing less than the conquests of new worlds. Commencement means to commence, not to finish.

It is well. The wisest who have lived have not made the world what it ought to be. The job has not been very well done. Take a chance on the "commencers." There is much that needs commencing. We need better cities and better farms, better government and better citizens; better business and better recreation, better industries and better arts—in the whole category of what has been accomplished there is nothing that could not be better. Turn the graduates loose without too much hampering advice. After all, each must create his world for himself.

MYSTERY OF FRENCH FLIERS' FATE

WHILE there is a reasonable amount of dovetailing evidence that an airplane was heard on the morning of May 9 along a line crossing southeastern Newfoundland, there is very grave doubt that the fate of the French aviators, Nungesser and Coli, will be determined in that region.

Careful analysis of the reports indicates that, though the Newfoundland constabulary has been scouring all communities for persons who heard or saw an airplane, the witnesses who have come forward are scattered along a direct and probable line of flight. At the same time some stories which raised strong hopes during the past few days already have been discounted.

Newfoundland officials are handicapped in making any effective search of the country by the primeval condition of the interior and the isolation of many sections for months at a time. Bad weather is a certain handicap to airplane reconnaissance, but the dispatch of a plane to this outpost of the North Atlantic would go far toward clearing up the mystery of the reports. That should be done. There is no plane in Newfoundland at this time.

Weather conditions east and northeast of Newfoundland last Monday morning were such that it is likely that ice formed on the wings of the French plane. If that happened the craft might have been forced down in the ocean. If the fliers were fortunate they would be found by a fishing schooner which would not bring them back to port until it had finished its catch. If the fliers reached Newfoundland and crashed against the 1200-foot ridge which crossed their course an airplane recomaissance might reveal the wreck or again it might not be discovered for months, if at all, by trappers or timber gangs.

If the reports of a few witnesses who believe they heard an airplane passing over southern Newfoundland till it reached the tip of the Burin Peninsula are correct, then Nungesser and Coli may have fallen in the Atlantic outside of the Gulf of St. Lawrence or may have reached Cape Breton or Nova Scotia only to fall in the wilderness of the mainland.

It is an absorbing mystery. The great weakness of the Newfoundland reports lies in the fact that they are based on the testimony of so few persons. An airplane is a great rarity in that part of the world. The noise of the motors should have been heard and noticed by hundreds of persons. It should have caused considerable comment and excitement; but it was not until the search for Nungesser and Coli had been undertaken intensively that a handful of people came forward to say they heard or saw what they believed to be a plane.

The real yellow peril is a streak.

We are assured of leaving much to posterity. There are the taxes.

NEWSPAPER MORTALITY

"In recent months not fewer than half a dozen sizeable daily newspapers have passed out of existence by reason of purchase and consolidation or suspension of publication. Commenting on the 'continuing combination of local newspapers,' which necessarily extinguishes some of the papers, the Typographical Journal remarks that in the later mergers, 'Not only has a newspaper been put out of business, but nearly all of its employees have found it necessary to look for employment in other fields. . . .If these combinations continue, and newspaper publishers say they are inevitable, our members in a greater degree will find it necessary to look to the commercial field for employment.' If printing-union bosses wish to know why newspapers are being snuffed out, they might inquire as to the effects of the wage scales enforced by their local unions. In driving impossible bargains with publishers for excessive wages, the unions are killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. Newspaper orphans turning to commercial printing will find that freedom of employment prevails in this field where the good jobs are available to capable and independent workers, but there is little demand for labor-union members.—From Employing Printers' Association of America Bulletin.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:14. Sun rises tomorrow 4:39.

While the campaign for members to the Chamber of Commerce is over, you can still join and help if you want to. Either call the Chamber office 2660 or even The News office and you will be taken care of.

A gasoline war is on in Philadelphia and gas was sold as low as four cents a gallon. Nothing is ever made out of a price cutting war. The temporary reductions are more than made up when the warring factions get together and they always get together.

There are always a lot of people coaxing other people away from their homes and their work.

Most all people are interested in certain lines of activity. Some are interested in football, others are interested in Chamber of Commerce work and many others in many other kinds of work. It is good policy for all to help the other fellow out in his projects and desires. In fact to make it in a few words "You have to go along with all other people if you want to get anywhere yourself."

An apple peeling a day on the sidewalk doesn't keep the doctor away.

Every time some expert out of town organization puts a campaign on in New Castle we hear a cry from some to the effect that local people should have done this work and saved the expense of hiring trained people to do this work. No one has ever named any local people who could or would do this work, neither has any better plan ever been offered, but this making the holler. This objection seems to be made just as an excuse to get out of contributing to the cause as far as we can figure it out.

The low prices of gasoline in some places are never enough to cause some people to move to such places to just get a chance to get cheap gas.

The old-fashioned New Castle mother who used to worry about a little spec of dust on the furniture, now has a daughter who worries about a little bit of shine on her nose.

A supposed mad dog ran amuck in Pittsburgh, tied up traffic for half and hour and bit four men. No doubt the cur was somebody's darling.

It is sad to be young and broke, but it's worse to be old and broke. Think that over, lads, and stick a little something now and then into the good old savings bank.

At a druggists convention held in California one of the delegates advicated the use of paint, powder and perfume for men. That bird was mercenary to the core.

Even an electric button will not accomplish anything unless it's pushed.

It seems to us that just now would be a good time to call all of the eight wards in New Castle—NEW CASTLE!

We cannot reconcile ourselves to the wall eyed walrus who makes all kinds of money in New Castle and then refuses to do anything towards the civic life and plans of the people who are trying to help him make even more money and live more comfortable and happy. Such people cannot be happy, surely.

In discussing cake with a nice lady the other day she told us that she did not think angel cake was the kind of cake suited to us. However, she was gracious enough not to say what she might have thought, namely, that devil cake might be our kind.

The United States District Court has ruled in the case of a lawyer, who was threatened with disbarment that the likker he had made in his own house for his own use was not an illegal act. Judges surely do have many different kinds of slants on the Volstead creation. Some are just the extreme opposite to the other.

CHEER UP

There's a little bird sings
In our old cherry tree,
And it seems just as though
He were singing to me:
"Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up!"

Though the sunshine be hid
And the skies dull and gray,
He continues to sing
On the gloomiest day:
"Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up!"

When my spirits are low
And things seem to go wrong,
I am always refreshed
By that small birdling's song:
"Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up!"

Now this lesson I've learned
From my small feathered friend,
Not to worry as if
Troubles never would end.
Though the sun may be hid,
It is shining somewhere,
So why worry and fret
And be burdened with care?
Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up!

Cuba has passed a resolution granting $50,000 to the Florida flood sufferers. Cuba shows an appreciation of American patronage and tourists and is willing to give back a little of what she gets in order to get more. Now if France would do the same thing we'd think more of her.

Peace in Nicaragua seems assured under the Stimson mission. With settled conditions the people of that country will be able to develop its resources and become prosperous. And the policy of President Coolidge is being vindicated every day. This is good news for everyone except those who wish ill to President Coolidge.

Lawrence county weather has been a great aid in making the flood sufferers of the lower river think of their troubles more and more, but many Lawrence county people haven't yet contributed to the relief of the sufferers to make them forget their losses and sorrows. The Red Cross is still receiving funds and needs everything that is given it.

Pittsburgh council has passed an ordinance putting the ban on sex magazines and publications full of risque matters, but the council seems unconcerned about the deplorable conditions of law enforcement and the apparent collusion between the heads of the police department and the forces of evil there.

Under a ruling of the Treasury Department the bootleggers have to pay income taxes on their earnings, and we can now see if they are making as much as some of the people think they are. But why wouldn't a return of a bootlegger, showing how his money was earned, be a confession of breaking the law and a signal for arrest?

To a gold miner a strike means big returns.

The reason a woman would prefer her husband to be like some other woman's husband is because any change at all would be a relief.

A Cleveland woman is suing for $50,000 for her husband who was killed in an accident. That is better than having a husband and calling him some mean and vicious names. That woman really loved her other half and undoubtedly misses him a great deal.

Paris police, so reports from abroad say, have set aside a special jail for the exclusive use of American Legionnaires who celebrate too much. Paris was always considerate of the Americans and they are keeping it up.

An employe of a local bank walked into a barber shop yesterday and approaching the young lady near the manicure table, told her to get busy on his nails.

"Sir", she ejaculated, "for two cents I'd call the police and have you taught a lesson!"

It appears that the young lady was not the manicure—merely a local society belle who was waiting for a haircut.

Scientists began digging into the lava that covers the buried city of Herculaneum, and immediately Vesuvius began growling, shaking the earth and throwing flaming lava into the air.

Once the diggers would have quit their work in terror, thinking they had displeased the volcano god—or demon.

Now they look at Vesuvius, say "thank heaven for that safety valve," and go on digging.

Our sham battle in the Atlantic goes on admirably. Firing is heavy, and the "blue' force supposed to be defending us against invasion by the "black" enemy, Wednesday blew up and destroyed a boat bringing airplanes to attack us. That's most satisfactory.

But in real war, the carriers bringing airplanes might not oblige us by coming within range of our guns. The planes might leave the carriers five hundred miles off the coast, go up out of sight and surprise our big cities. What then?

In Chicago Samuel Insull, not as young as when he worked with Edison in the last century, runs gas, electricity and grand opera for a city going on four millions.

Now he arranges to run all the city's elevated, surface and future subway lines. Some yell "monopoly," but that word is out of date. Now it is "the bigger, the better," if the man is up to his job.

Princeton's professor of palaeontology, R. M. Field, says powerful protruding jaws on handsome young men, in collar or clothing advertisements show degeneracy. The receding chin of the Neanderthal man, scores of centuries back is a better chin, says the professor, because it could grip more tightly, hold more and bigger teeth than the jaw of the collar advertisement.

The professor is 100 per cent wrong. Successful men usually have wil developed jaws and noses Thinking develops the nose; will power the jaw. The mind that automatically says "I can," pushes its jaw out. The receding jaw comes from saying "I can't." Try it yourself. When you say "I can't," the jaw goes back. When you say "I can," the chin sticks out.

Miss Spencer, 70 years old, rode to work at the treasury department and back on a bicycle, saved and made more than $100,000. She leaves small sums to relatives and the balance, $100,000 for a tombstone. Relatives object, the court is asked to decide.

The foolish waste should be forbidden. But it is interesting to think of that old treasury clerk pushing her bicycle back and forth meditating on the grand figure that she could cut in death with her $100,000 tomb she who in life had been only a $1,200 a year spinster clerk. Happiness is largely imagination.

Republicans and Democrats are planning a 1928 campaign in which the wet and dry question will be shelved, forgotten.

Some wets say, "If you do, we shall start a third party, dripping wet."

That would not hurt the feelings of Republicans, who have decided the Democrats may have the wet issue.

If, as seems likely, a wet Democrat is nominated, the wets will know his wetness and vote for him. A separate wet party would get as few votes now as separate prohibition party used to get in the old wet days.

HEALTH AND LUXURY

A German scientist who conducted autopsies on 30,000 mummies dating from 4000 B. C., to the dawn of the Christian Era, says he found abundant evidence that human ailments grow with luxury.

Mummies of an earlier age showed signs of few of the diseases that appeared in those of a later, richer time. Gravel on the kidneys, tuberculosis, gout, cancer, and smallpox came with the ages of luxury.

Early Egyptians had hard, white teeth. Later ones, who by their costly burial robes showed they had lived in a time of greater wealth, had decayed molars.

The whole trend, according to this scientist, has always been to an increase in human ailments when there was an increase in luxury.

However, the point is that it was not the luxury that brought on the ailments, but a failure of the people to meet the changing conditions.

A change is outward circumstances has to be met with a change

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MAN

Each in his separate place by day
Stands to his little task,
A tenant in a house of clay,
A face that wears a mask.

And neither from the smile nor frown
Can any mortel tell,
The dreams of splendor and renown
Which in the house may dwell.

Some deeds there are belie the man
So varied are his needs,
And often, serving scheme or plan,
A man belies his deeds.

Within the house of self his dreams
And happy fancies hide,
Which, just to be the man he seems,
He bravely puts aside.

None knows what fires within him burn,
Only the weak man shows
For every passer-by to learn
His countless bitter foes.

What strange temptations he resists,
What curious thoughts he quells
To join the morning's battle lists
His conduct seldom tells.

And one to serve another's need
Has hid his dreams away,
And kept the greater selfish deed
Within his house of clay.

As many a violet comes to bloom
On strange, untrodden ground,
So there are dreamers at the loom
Whom chance has never found.

THE UNION STATION.

Among the propositions contained in the Program laid out by the Committee on Policies and Projects under the leadership of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of New Castle is the Railroad Station for New Castle. There are so many things that are contained in this great Program that are worthy of attention of every New Castleite, that it is hard to put your finger on this one, or that one, and say that should be done first.

I think, however, that nothing would assist New Castle so much as a real Railroad Station. I have heard of the stations now in existence referred to as "dog kennels." That may be be pretty strong language, but compared with the thousand and one real railroad stations of America, the simile is not an unfair one. New Castle has always been known as a "jerk-water town" inasmuch as no through railroad train (with the exception of the Erie and Pittsburgh trains) passes through the New Castle stations. It has always been necessary for passengers travelling to New Castle on through trains to change at New Castle Junction from comfortable Pullman cars, to dirty castoff rolling stock, only used on junction lines. This in itself is sufficient to give any town a black eye.

There is a place within the city limits of New Castle which is now easy of access. It is only two and a half miles from the corner of Mill and Washington Streets. At this place all of the railroads meet and pass. I refer to the point where the Baltimore and Ohio, and the New York Central Lines cross the Pennsylvania Lines, in the Seventh Ward. Two and a half miles is a very short distance in a modern city for a passenger to travel by taxicab or automobile to and from a railroad station. In the great cities ten miles is not considered an unreasonable distance. There is now a good boulevard free from all but one grade crossing, leading from the present business district of New Castle to this point. It is an ideal location in every way for a great Union Station.

The railroads of America are at present enjoying a real prosperity that has been unequalled in the history of America railroads. The railroads are endeavoring today to give to their patrons the best service possible. New Castle furnishes to Eastern railroads more freight ton for ton than any city in the state of Pennsylvania, with but one exception—Pittsburgh. It furnishes the railroads of Pensylvania with more tonage than the city of Philadelphia. There is every reason why a city that furnishes the railroad with so much traffic should in return receive from the railroad due consideration as to its passenger situation.

When the time comes that the trainmen on the through passenger trains cease to cry when their trains approach the city limits of New Castle, "New Castle Junction; change cars for New Castle," another great step forward will have been accomplished.

PEOPLE AND THINGS

American men, take them for all and all, are, I believe, the most considerate husbands in the world. If you happen to have one of them for a husband, you may or may not agree. A lot depends upon the individual husband—and wife.

But I know what I know. And I'm certain that several American husbands that I am personally acquainted with have made life so easy for their wives that they have made their wives very discontented and unhappy.

I yield to no man in honoring and respecting the American woman—every one of her. But common sense will bear me out, I am sure, in the assertion that work, which is good for man, is also good for women. Oh, one can have too much of a good thing, to be sure! Either a man or a woman may be overworked. Few, however, really are overworked. And that few isn't doing much complaining.

I know that in many American cities the wives of many men of moderate means do practically no work. Now, I do not think that total and complete freedom from essential work is good for any woman or man who is not a helpless invalid.

It has actually come to a point where many women of moderate means are ashamed to be caught working. They are ashamed before the neighbors. They work upon the pride and indulgent natures of their simple-minded husbands, and thus get their husbands to hire other women to do all the work for them—even the pushing of a light-weight electric suction sweeper.

These non-working housewives are unanimously unhappy. They haven't enough to do to keep them happy. No wonder they sometimes take an overdose of gin and kill their husbands!

Mrs. John Hough Named President Of Baptist Union

One Day Session Of Woman's Missionary Union Held In First Baptist Church

Mrs. John Hough of Ellwood City was elected president of the Woman's Missionary Union of Beaver Baptist churches at the annual meeting held Thursday in the First Baptist church of this city.

Other officers elected included the following: Vice-president, Mrs. J. R. Routledge of the Providence; secretary, Mrs. Carl Jones of Sharon; treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Swogger of New Brighton; secretary of study class, Mrs. H. A. Sturdy, New Castle; W. W. G., Miss Lydia Nichols, Sharon; children's division, Miss Minnie Summers, Sharon; White Cross, Mrs. William Wilson, New Castle; Christian citizenship, Mrs. Calvin Smith; extension and literature, Mrs. Julia Funkhouser, New Brighton; Christian Americanization, Mrs. J. R. Routledge, Providence; Christian stewardship, Mrs. Harold Bodamer, Sharon; secretary director, Mrs. J. D. Tanner, Sharon.

The evening session was featured by an illustrated address by Miss Edna Oden, returned missionary from Africa. The pictures were scenes along the Congo river and were especially entertaining. Singing by a chorus of Crusaders from the First church of this city under the direction of Miss Mary Owens was well received.

New Armory Secured For Meeting Of Local Engineers Tonight

Co "B" 125th Engineers will hold their final drill prior to Muster this evening at the Armory on Neshannock avenue. Every man who has signed up for Co "B" is urged to be present so that final preparations for Muster may be completed.

The actual strength of the Company is 45 ment. These men have been sworn into service and are available for muster. However, there are some 21 men additional men who have signed up but have not received their physical examination or been sworn in and cannot be counted on until they have. A few of these are expected to be present tonight and some five others have promised to enlist tonite, so it is felt that there is no question of the company being mustered into service Monday, May 23rd.

The new Armory that has been needed so badly has finally been secured and we will be in possession of it tonight. Through the efforts of the Civilian Committee and the officers of the Company the dance hall known as the "Gardens" at 360-6 Neshannock avenue has been secured. This is one of the few places in New Castle that could be made into a suitable armory and the officers and men are more than pleased. Only those who have been connected with the old Troop can appreciate the difficulties we have gone through in not having a suitable armory, one that was large enough to hold drill in and still have room for offices, property room and club rooms. We will be able to have these things in the new armory, with sufficient floor room to drill the entire company at one time. All members will report at the present armory tonight and from there we will go to the new Drill call will be at 8 p. m. Daylight Saving Time, and every one is urged to be present and on time.

in bodily habits. Extinct animals are the ones who could not meet the changes in climate and food, who kept on as they had been going under other circumstances, and paid the penalty.

There is no reason why Grandpa, who got callouses sitting on a hard board wagon-seat should be any healthier than little Eddie, who rides around on springs and shock absorbers.

Luxury, in itself, is a fine thing if it is used rightly.

The trouble with it is that too many people live in luxury as if they were living under the old conditions. They do not alter their habits to meet their new conditions.

They eat the same food grandpa did when he chopped wood and milked the cows, and they exercise as grandpa did when he had a few minutes to rest.

Consequently their aches and pains multiply and they blame it on luxury. The real villain in the piece is not luxury, but a continuation of habits that suited one condition into a sort of life that needs other habits.

Scientists, experimenting with rats, have shown that life lasts according to the "rate" it is used. Rats using their energy in spinning a wheel fast day after day, died sooner than those which used less energy from day to day. So men living in an age which enables them to conserve their energy should be healthy and long-lived if they change their mode of living to fit their new conditions. In fact the best assurance for long life is the ability to change with things about you, to adapt yourself to altering circumstances. The security for long life is not found in enormous strength or in so-called appliances for safety.

The only thing safe for a man or a nation is to go on. Life is like riding a bicycle. Its safety consists in keeping straight ahead. Whenever anybody stops, all sorts of maladies begin to infest him. There have been mammoth animals dug up from the fossil beds of the past. They seemed to be admirably equipped for long life, but they have become extinct, while animals of less formidable construction with the ability to adapt themselves to changed circumstances still have their descendants with us.

There is a tragedy in evolution. Things that will not continue to evolve must be removed.

Aides To Orchestra And Band Figure Largely In Success

To be the librarian of a big band or orchestra is a job requiring the exercise of unusual executive ability, particularly when managerial duties accompany those of the librarian.

That is why C. J. Russel was induced to resign his position as superintendent of schools in a Massachusetts city and accepted the position as stage manager and librarian of the big Sousa band. Mr. Russel has been with Sousa for some eighteen years and says that while he detests the travelling, he finds his work with Sousa much more lucrative than was his school work.

The duties of the librarian of a choral organization are very much simpler because, as a general rule, one vocal copy serves for use in any of the different sections and there are no stands and chairs to be placed with so much care. But the librarian of a big band or orchestra must see to it that each section is properly placed and the number of stands and chairs in each section must be exact. A clarinet part can not serve for a violin player, a flute part is of no use to a trombone player, and so the greatest of care must be exercised to see that each part is placed on the stand from which the players of that particular part play.

While the responsibility is great, the experience and training is of incalucuable value to the students who are chosen for this work in the Senior High School Band and Orchestra. Those who have the responsibility for taking care of these details for the Annual Concert on Tuesday evening of next week at the Franklin Junior High Auditorium are Sherwood Brown, Edgar Beal and Kenneth Myers.

Other students and former students who have held these positions are Harold Guy, Albert Baumann, George Phelps, Scott Sample and Walter McGrath. George Phelps was the librarian when the band made the trip to Chicago, and although George never played a note, he was the busiest lad in the entire outfit and much of the credit for the success of this trip was due to his conscientious attention to the smallest details.

Walter "Baldy" McGrath, formerly a violin player in the North Street Junior High Orchestra, but converted into a cellist in the Senior High Orchestra, was librarian of the band until last spring. It is said that Walter's skill in jumping over chairs, stands and players without brushing a hair of anyone's head, while passing out music was observed one day by members of the faculty of the athletic department, and aroused a suspicion in them that here was a star hurdler "goin' to waste." The suspicion was immediately communicated to the director of the band who immediately made it possible for Walter to devote all the time possible to the 9th period athletics with the result that "Baldy" showed the boys all over this end of the State "who's who" when it comes to sprinting over the hurdles.

However the boys of the band were spoiled by Walter's ability to keep the water bucket well filled during the scorching hot days when they were forced to sit thru the rehearsals and pageant at the Franklin Field last May during the May Day exercises which required unceasing playing. They now insist that all librarians must be fast on their feet with the water pail.

MRS. BASSETT ALWAYS TIRED

Now in Good Health by Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lansing, Mich.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. When I first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day." —Mrs. E. F. Bassett, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

Do not continue to feel all rundown and half sick when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold by druggists everywhere.

Here's Real Relief From Neuritis

In 24 to 48 Hours Pains Are Often Relieved and You Get Rest and Comfort Again.

Torturing pains—the kind that pierce and burn and never seen to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only partially relieve.

The safest and most efficient way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced if not almost banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until you are satisfied with results.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs, Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 should give you speedy relief. McKee's Kut Rate Store; Ellwood City agent, F. L. Schweitzer or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

Mahoning Valley Notes

Mrs. R. D. Walter was in New Castle Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison of North Side Edinburg, who were very ill are greatly improved.

Mrs. Frances Simonton is able to be out after an illness.

Our Edinburg people are greatly concerned about the Mississippi sufferers and have sent their contributions through the churches at New Castle. Let us help these poor unfortunates. All who have not already contributed send your contribution to the New Castle News at once.

The Heiress Hunter, a three act comedy, will be presented by Westfield Grange in the Mahoning Valley Grange Hall, Friday evening, May 20, eastern standard time. We are expecting a full house as this play is one of the best plays in the course.

Edinburg Memorial association is arranging for a great celebration for Memorial Day, May 30. The parade and memorial services will be held in the forenoon, starting at 9:30 at band stand. The several committees in charge are making extensive preparations for band and speaker, also program of music and patriotic readings. Last year was the biggest celebration Edinburg ever had and this year promises greater things. The sport program will start promptly at 1 o'clock, eastern standard time. The merchants of New Castle and Edinburg are giving prizes as they did last year, and we are meeting with much encouragement. Our chairman of program is anxious to have all the committees meet Thursday evening at Methodist church at 8 o'clock. The president, Russell C. Hofmeister has appointed the following committee to take charge of this great celebration. Program—Mrs. H. H. Sherrard, chairman; Mrs. Bertha Bonnet, J. F. Hofmeister. Music—I. M. Hofmeister, chairman; Adda Coates, Olive Hewitt. Decoration—B. McCoullough, chairman; Irene Parks, Jessie Bonnet, Mrs. Roy Raub, Mrs. Harry Parks, Mrs. Laura Coates, Mrs. Hoover. Committee on Grounds — Claude Cherry, chairman; Wm. Landis, James Leeper, J. F. Cole. Finance—H. Parks, chairman; Ferd Book, C. R. Beight, Angelo Storti. Sports committee—Harry H. Sherrard, chairman; Fred Coates, Joe Parks, Dwight Smith. Publicity manager—Mrs. Emerson Morrow. Marshal of the day—Jess Toy. Officers—President, Russell Hofmeister; vice president, Harry H. Sherrard; secretary, Mrs. E. Morrow; treasurer, Laura Coates.

Harry H. Sherrard has been appointed on school board of Mahoning township. Mr. Sherrard is very well fitted for this position and his many friends are extending congratulations

Harvard Alumni See Movies Of Athletics

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 20.—Harvard alumni who are unable to attend athletic events in which the teams of their alma mater are competing are going to have moving pictures of the games brought to them.

A two or three reel film is being made this spring for exhibition throughout the country. During the fall and winter of this coming year the film will be distributed and shown at all of the Harvard Clubs in the United States. Three copies of the film will be made thus speeding up the distribution.

The film is being made under the direction of the Harvard Athletic Association.

Shots of teams in action, coaches, captains, managers and the athletic plan will when put together in the film give an excellent birdseye view of the athletic situation.

Iron And Steel Market Review

Condition Of Iron And Steel Market Is Summarized By Iron Trade Review

CLEVELAND, Ohio., May 20.—Iron Trade Review says:

Demands of the railroads and the automotive industry are conspicuous in an iron and steel market which, true to May form, continues the temperate declines from the recent peaks in sales and production. Little variation, however, has developed from the rates of last May.

Car awards the past week have exceeded 4000, the New York Central order for 3674 freight and passenger cars alone surpassing all April bookings. If the Illinois Central places only the 4500 on which it has taken bids, car business for 1927 to date will top the like period of 1926. Including 80 locomotives ordered by the Erie, 60 locomotives and 55 tenders by the New York Central, and 15 by the Central Railroad of New Jersey, railroad business the past week requires over 65,000 tons of heavy steel.

General Motors Corp. is understood to have supplemented its last half year pig iron commitments by placing about 75,000 tons with a Toledo, O. furnace. Specifications for steel from the automotive industry continue heavy, practically equaling last May.

Truck and bus manufacturers are taking in more steel than last year. Low-priced carmakers are operating relatively better than the higher-priced ones.

New sheet prices are, in the main, holding although inquries to afford a real test have not developed. Production improved slightly the past week due largely to heavier automotive specifications.

Production of beehive coke more nearly parallels consumption, more ovens having been put out, and greater stability is evident.

Sales of semifinished steel for June delivery promise to exceed those for May, as the carryover of consumers into June will be lighter than it was into May.

Recent orders for soft steel bars, especially at Chicago, do not quite measure up to consumption, indicating users are operating on still narrower stocks. Bookings of structural shapes by Pittsburgh district makers are considerably in excess of the April rate. Tank work placed at Chicago calls for 4000 tons of plates. Heavy finished steel prices show wide variations between districts, but in general are unchanged. Buyers are pressing for concessions.

Receives Word Parents Unhurt In Big Tornado

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—J. W. Coleman, physical director at Westminster College, has received word from Strong Ark., that his parents were not seriously injured by the recent tornado which swept through that district.

W. S. Coleman, aged father of the Westminster coach, suffered a broken collar bone and numerous bruises and scratches. Mrs. Coleman was considerably bruised but no bones were broken. Mr. Coleman is confined to bed at the home of a relative.

Two homes owned by W. S. Coleman were totally destroyed. When the tornado struck, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman were in their home. The house was lifted from its foundation, whirled around several times and then dropped on its side.

According to the letters received here, the entire town was practically wiped out.

Present Program In Bessemer High

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—A. A. McDonald, Westminster's graduate manager; Prof. R. X. Graham, publicity director, and the Phi Pi Phi fraternity orchestra and entertainers, were features of the special student assembly at Bessemer High School, Thursday morning.

Mr. McDonald was introduced by Jeff Byler, a Westminster grad and now a teacher at Bessemer high. The graduate manager introduced Professor Graham who spoke on behalf of the college.

A group of popular numbers was given by the fraternity orchestra composed of John Louden of Mars, Ernest Griggs, of West View, Leland Cooper of Evans City, Milo Root of Kinsman, John Cassidy of Sharon, and John Boyd of New Wilmington.

Solos were rendered by John Louden, Violinist, and John Cassidy, mandolin.

College Girls Pass Life Saving Tests

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—Miss Dorothy Stunkard of New Castle, and Miss Catherine McClure of Blairsville, co-eds at Westminster College, have passed the senior life saving test.

The test was given by Jack Herbert of New Castle, assisted by Nick Costello and Edward Guizer, also of New Castle.

Miss Stunkard and Miss McClure are two of the best girl swimmers in college. Although she had never swam until the pool was installed at Westminster about 14 months ago, Miss Stunkard recently swam two miles, which is a very difficult feat in an enclosed pool.

The trouble with most statisticians is that they have a lot of facts that are not so.

Senior High School News

Senatus Romanus Election

On Monday, May 16, the Senatus Romanus of the Senior high school held a meeting for the purpose of electing officers for the next school term. At this election the offices of Consul, Consul Secundus and Scriba were filled while the offices of Aedile and Quaestor were not. They will be voted on sometime later on.

Those who were elected to the positions voted for on Monday are as follows: Consul, Harold Sankey; Consul Secundus, Margaret Brown; Scriba, Esther Wallace.

The nominees for the positions which are to be filled later are: For Aedile, Blodwin Davis and Grace Thompson; for Quaestor, Elizabeth Gilfillan and Harriet Truby.

Receives Highest Latin Honor

William Beall, a senior in the New Castle high school, has been named the winner of the title, "Summa Cum Laude," the highest honor the Latin department of the school can bestow on a student. In English this title means, "With Greatest Praise."

Other honors given by the department are: "Magna Cum Laude" or "With Great Praise," to Harriett Martin. This is the next highest honor; two awards of "Cum Laude," which means in English, "With Praise," were given to Frances Beadel and George Kline respectively.

The committee on averages consisted of Mary McGeehan, Gertrude Potter and Elizabeth Gilfillan.

"Recognition Chapel" Postponed

The chapel exercises of the Senior high school which was scheduled for Thursday morning was postponed until Friday morning, May 20. Awards for various things were to be given out at this time, but it was necessary to postpone doing this.

The president of the Sons of the American Revolution, Charles Young and C. C. Greene, superintendent of city schools will make the awards.

Name Miss Warner Sorority President

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—Miss Thelma Warner of New Castle, has been elected president of the Sigma Kappa sorority at Westminster College, to serve next year. Miss Lorena Garloch of North Girard is vice president.

Other officers of the national organization are: Miss Katherine Wiley of Elizabeth, recording secretary; Miss Hazel Brush of Carnegie, treasurer; Miss Helen Winters of Coraopolis, registrar and Miss Katherine Boobyer of Pittsburgh, triangle correspondent.

Early Days Of City Are Vividly Recalled By Mrs. J. C. Raney

At a recent meeting of The Reading Circle, Mrs. J. C. Raney read a paper on the early history of the seventh ward, then known as Mahoningtown. It contained so much information of interest to New Castle folks, and facts of interest of the early days here that request has been made that the paper be published. Here it is:

NEW CASTLE AS I HAVE KNOWN IT

In 1925 New Castle celebrated her one hundredth anniversary. Those of you who read her past history as published in the souvenir program, or witnessed the pageant given in the Junior high school building, are familiar with her years of progress.

To write of New Castle as I have known it I must naturally write of that part of the city known as the seventh ward, a part of New Castle with which many outside of that ward are not at all familiar.

A very few there are in this Reading Circle who can go back in memory to the time of my early school days, when that part of the city was known as Mahoningtown, a pretty little village of a few hundred inhabitants, situated near the junction of the Shenango and Mahoning rivers.

The town was cut directly through the center by the cross-cut branch of the Ohio Canal, a water route from Rochester, Pa., to Cleveland. The little town of only a dozen or two homes was built mostly around three sides of the square, the canal bordering the fourth side, just where the two great trunk lines, the New York Central and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads, now pass through the city.

Had Its Main Street

The town had its "Main Street", just as had other small towns. To be historically correct, I should say two of them, for a street bordering either side of the canal, with buildings on one side for a distance of two or three squares, formed an important section of the town. Some of these houses are still standing, but it is hard to imagine them to have been the palatial homes (as we thought) of Mahoningtown's leading citizens.

There were several places along the canal that were of particular interest to the children, and some grown-ups too, I imagine. One of them was the "Basin", a crescent-shaped extension of the canal reaching into the square. Here the day-boats tied up for the night or for repairs. To the children the arrival of a boat was the cause for more or less excitement, for occasionally a good-natured captain would allow us to walk the gang plank and board the boat and look around, and what thrills we got as we peeked out the windows or climbed to the hatchway and viewed the town from that point of vantage.

Just east of the square a few hundred feet was a three-stone grist mill, a building that had a great attraction for the children. It was a joy to get inside and play, but the thing we liked best was to crowd around one of the east windows, where we got a good view of the great overshot wheel as it turned steadily around, furnishing the power for the grinding of the grain. Watching the cascades of water falling from the big wheel was a great delight to us, as we could follow the water out into the mill race and on down to the river.

Acqueduct Feature

To the older residents of the town, as well as the children, the real show place of the town was the "Acqueduct", the long, dark bridge that carried the canal across the Shenango river. A lock at the east end of the acqueduct lowered the boats to the level of the canal at the junction. The Erie branch of the canal followed the Shenango river up into the city just as the railroads do today. The railroad bridges near New Castle Junction have replaced that old water carrier but I still recall how we feared to walk through it as we followed the path the horses took as they pulled the boats through. At all times we thought it rather "spooky", but particularly at dusk when the boats were flying around and the place grew darker and darker as we went through, while every sound made sent back an echo that sent our courage down to zero, before getting out into the open again. Not until we were older did we realize the commercial value of the canal. It was by this route that all freight came into town. A dock where the boats were tied up to unload was near the bridge that crossed the canal just where the under-grade crossing now is on Liberty street.

"The Packet"

There were passenger boats also on this waterway. I can remember seeing one called "The Packet". I do not know that I ever rode on it, but my husband made the trip from Youngstown more than once when he was a little "chap" wearing "kilts". These boats were equipped with sleeping berths—very crude compared with the Pullman berth of today, but very essential for the comfort of travelers. Those of you who have made the trip from Youngstown to New Castle in a high-powered auto over the improved highway can scarcely realize the time it took to get anywhere in those earlier days. Imagine, if you can, boarding "The Packet" at Youngstown in the evening, retiring to your sleeping berth and traveling all night to reach Mahoningtown; for, barring such mishaps as a broken tow-rope, a balky mule or a leak in the boat, you could possibly get into town for an early breakfast. No matter at what hour you got in the town loafers and possibly others of the residents would be at the dock to see you land, for the boats traveled so slowly it was possible for any resident of the town to get there before the boat, once they heard it had been sighted.

At that early period all persons going from New Castle to Pittsburgh or points west had to take the stage coach to Enon Valley—the nearest station on the Fort Wayne railroad. The route from New Castle being directly through Mahoningtown, crossing the Mahoning river by way of the "Old Black Bridge".

John Snyder of New Castle wrote a little poem on the passing of this century-old-bridge that is well worth reading. It was published in the New Castle News about the time the bridge was torn down two or three years ago. A fine steel bridge has replaced that old one, and an improved road over the old stage route to Enon now makes one of the finest highways out of New Castle. To those who love motoring it is a most beautiful drive on a Sunday evening.

Old Drawbridge

Before the canal was abandoned the Beaver Valley railroad was built—now the Pennsylvania Lines—crossing the canal by way of a drawbridge, which was near the place the elevated tracks of the railroad now cross the Pennsylvania railroad. One accident, I recall after that bridge was built. The bridge was still open when the north bound train came along and the engine landed in the bed of the canal. I do not recall that anyone was hurt but can vouch for the fact that, at that early date, "investigations" were in vogue, with the result of the engineer losing his job.

Compared with the finely equipped school building in Mahoningtown today with an enrollment of about nine hundred pupils, the conditions when I went to school were indeed crude and far from comfortable even.

We had just one room with about fifty pupils of various ages, the girls sitting at wooden desks) on one side of the room and the boys on the other, with long wooden benches in front of the teachers desk where we sat in classes to recite our lessons. That school building was replaced by one of two rooms built on the site of the present school building. After passing through No 2 we had to go to New Castle to continue our studies in the Reynoldstown building (Now the Aiken building). We did not have autos to carry us to school buildings, nor did we have convenient trains in those days but hiked the three miles every morning and back after school closed at four. If the weather was very stormy we walked to the West Side Station and waited an hour or two for the train.

Old School Days

Cafeterias were unknown in those days, so we had to carry a lunch or fast until we got home in the evening. Since there were a dozen or more in the crowd sometimes the teacher with us), we had a jolly time of it and often a profitable one, for we frequently got a bit of nature study on these hiking trips. With the finely equipped school buildings and the wonderful advantages the children in New Castle have today I doubt if the city can boast of a better record than that of the twenty-five or thirty girls of Mahoningtown with whom I was associated at some time during my school-day period. Today I can count sixteen out of that bunch of girls who went away to college, while later three from one family have been successful missionary workers. Of the boys we were equally proud. I can recall two who entered the professions while a number advanced to important positions in railroad circles, getting started in that line as the town became more of a railroad center, as the years passed by.

Some must think we must have had a very rosy time of it. 'Tis true there was no golf those days, neither was there any movies, football, tennis or basketball, yet we did manage to have very delightful times. Not every night in the week, I will admit. (For in those days children were expected to help more or less in the homes). Yet nothing in the way of amusements today could surpass the sleighing parties of that day when the boys would gather up the crowd in a big Bob Sled with four horses and bells galore, and off to Petersburg or some other country town, where, after an oyster supper, we danced until after midnight, then started for the long ride home in the moonlight. I think we spent equally as much time in the open as the young people of today.

Winter Recreations

Another of our popular recreations was skating. There were not so many mills in New Castle then and the waters of the Shenango would freeze most to the bottom, making ice heavy enough to carry a horse and sleigh, and lasting for weeks at a time. We sure did enjoy this finest of winter sports.

Today the crowd is scattered. Some have gone "Over the River" and some to distant cities, but we still have a few of the original crowd who live in New Castle, while hundreds of residents scattered all over the city are either descendants of people who lived in Mahoningtown or have lived there at sometime themselves. Notwithstanding so many of its residents have moved to other wards of the city, the Seventh Ward has some six thousands of inhabitants. They are very cosmopolitan some people think and are not considered a very great factor except for gathering votes and taxes to help in keeping the city machinery in motion.

Twenty-eight years ago the borough of Mahoningtown was incorporated into the City of New Castle but in all these years since that act the town has not lost its identity, (a problem for the city Fathers to solve) as we still have the Mahoningtown Station on the Pennsylvania railroad, the Mahoning school, Mahoning Supply Company, Mahoning Electric Company, Mahoning Trust Company, Mahoning Auto Company, Mahoning Pharmacy, Mahoning Undertaking Company and the Mahoning Post Office. The name of the latter in the canal days was Cross Cut.

Being in reality New Castle there should be found a way to eliminate the distinction made, and all be one big united bunch of citizens having undivided interests, so that a boost for one ward means a boost for the whole city of New Castle.

Flood Victims Turn To Washington To Stop Flood Menace In West

By JERRY QUISENBERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, May 20.—What will the next congress do about the flood menace in the Middle West?

With scenes of tragedy and suffering fresh in their memories, a half dozen states in the recently stricken section are already turning toward Washington with that question and wondering what, if anything will actually be done by the government to prevent a repetition of the disaster.

To the wide agricultural section as a whole, the question is perhaps the most vital one since the fateful episode of the McNary-Haugen bill. Indeed, a few skeptics have already cited farm relief, in general, and the McNary-Haugen bill, in particular, as an indication of what may be expected from the federal government in the future prevention of floods despite the recent assurance of Secretary of Commerce Hoover and others.

Prevention Program

That a flood prevention program for the menaced areas in the Middle West is imperative appears to be beyond doubt. The staggering toll in life and property wrought by the Mississippi's latest rampage is believed to have taught its lesson, and the states which lay in the river's destructive path will be prepared in the future, it is felt.

Had it not been for the shortsightedness on the part of the government, many believe the disaster in the lower Mississippi Valley could have been averted. Among those to condemn the government's failure to forsee the possibility of such a catastrophe is Senator James A. Reed, the fiery Missouri Democrat.

"Virtually ever since I have been in the senate," said Senator Reed, "I have contended that it was the duty of congress to harness the Mississippi and its tributaries, not only for navigation, but also to provide some adequate and permanent safeguard from inundations. In the last three or four years I have advocated that the government control these waters from the Gulf all through the valley, and have urged voting bonds if necessary, even to the amount of a billion dollars."

A navigation program which would include flood prevention as its main feature is what the Missouri senator has in mind, since he believes river navigation work and such prevention measures go hand in hand.

"But it has been impossible to arouse congress," the senator added. "It is to be hoped now, in the face of this calamity, to get congress and the administration to take hold of this proposition."

Senator Reed said the money allowed on European debts would finance a flood prevention program, adding that "if we would spend less time extending sympathy to foreign nations and more in protecting our citizens, we would be better off as a nation.

Asks Broad Policy

The Missouri senator's remarks were echoed by Lachlan Macleay, secretary of the Mississippi Valley in a speech in Chicago. Macleay also spoke of "Congressional shortsightedness" and described the government's policy as "too narrow and too local in vision.

The first midwestern executive to take advantage of the recent floods in urging federal aid is Governor Ben S. Paulen of Kansas. Governor Paulen invited the governors of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas to join Kansas in a concerted drive for governmental assistance.

The entire question, to a great extent, seems to hinge on whether the prevention of future floods in the Middle West is a matter for state or federal action.

In the last session of congress Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas sought vainly to get federal aid for flood prevention work in the southeastern part of his state, a rich agricultural area which has been turned into an inland sea twice within six months. His efforts met with the reply that the problem was one for Kansas to tackle by herself, since the damage came from minor and non-navigable streams.

It was these and other minor streams and tributories, however, that fed the "Father of Waters" their swollen torrents and sent it raging through the lower Mississippi valley in death-dealing deluge, and state officials of the Middle West apparently are convinced that if the flood prevention problem has heretofore been one for individual states to handle, it has now assumed national significance.

Police Hold Pair For Investigation

Benjamin Allo, aged 32, and John Bono aged 24 claiming their residence as 11011 Liberty street, Pittsburgh are being held at the local police station on suspicion of being operators of the ancient confidence game, and pending inquiry at Pittsburgh as to whether they are wanted in that city on any charges.

Their apprehension here this morning was the result of their supposed attempt to work a confidence racket on Frank DeMase of 518 Pearson street, and possibly other persons.

Mr. DeMase was enroute to work on South Mill street, when he met John Bono near Lutton street. The latter stopped him and asked if he knew two brothers, giving a certin name. DeMase did not recognize the name. As they were talking Allo came along and they asked him concerning the persons named. He said he knew the persons wanted and they started up Mill street.

During the walk, Bono told of leaving shortly for the old country and arriving in this city this morning and wanting to locate his friends before leaving. He intimated that he had a trunk at a local station, which DeMase was led to believe might contain considerable money. He also had a large roll of money.

He suggested that DeMase go home, dress up and help him hunt the people he wanted to find and he woud pay him. Incidentally he asked DeMase if he had money. DeMase said he did not have much.

DeMase went home and was to meet the men at the Johnson Bronze works. On his return he failed to find the men. Then he feared that Allo might have done something to Bono, who had money and notified the police.

Officers Longstreeth and Hillers were detailed and with DeMase they started to seek the men whom they located on Moravia street near the viaduct talking to another man in working clothing. They arrested them. They had about $150 on them when searched by the officers and are being detained pending further investigation.

Found In Mexico—Rare Plant That Curbs Kidney and Bladder Suffering

Doctor Amazed by Stories of Relief From Night Risings, Backaches, Weariness, Dizzy Spells, Headaches, Told by Thousands Who Daily Drink Sap With Meals—Medical Professor Sends Fresh Shipment Here From Mexican Laboratories.

KIDNEY and bladder sufferers go to Mexico! What Carlsbad is to stomach sufferers, what Sulphur Springs is to Rheumatics, Mexico has become to kidney and bladder sufferers," according to a professor who has just returned from one of his many trips to the Maguey Plantation at Ometusco. A graduate of one of the best medical colleges in America, he has witnessed phenomenal results from the use of the sap of this plant.

"Natives in this section have practically no kidney or bladder trouble," he stated. "Wealthy Americans, sent here often in a dying condition, have returned well and strong." He saw one man of 45 rejected for life insurance on account of weak kidneys, passed 100% after taking this sap. "Realizing that few sufferers can afford the expense of a trip to Mexico, I tried for years to find a way to ship this sap here. At last this has been done—our laboratories now make regular shipments of Matamel, as the genuine sap is known to druggists. The quarter million packages sold in a short time, prove what wonderful benefit it has brought to thousands."

Government Report Shows

"Kidney disease proves fatal to over 89,000 annually. Don't neglect these signs of kidney weakness: Do you have to get up nights? Do you have pains in the middle of the back? Do you have strange noises in ears and dancing spots before the eyes? Are your feet and legs swollen? Do you have headaches, dizzy spells, no appetite? Do you feel weary and fatigued, even in the morning? Readers of this paper who have any of these troubles should certainly read what Matamel has done for others.

WHAT MATAMEL HAS DONE FOR MY KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Mr. Fred H. Kostron, well known Chicago Machinist Inspector, of 2440 N. Tripp Ave., states: "My 15 years of kidney and bladder torture cost me over $6,500 for doctors and medicines, but not until I took Matamel did I get my health back. I was disturbed 2 or 3 times nightly for years, my back ached, legs were swollen, and I got out of breath the least thing I did. Had no pep and could hardly drag myself out of bed. Had headaches, rheumatic aches, dizzy spells —and saw dancing spots before my eyes. I've gained 25 lbs. since taking Matamel, feel years younger and have no pains, aches or trouble of any kind."

ARE ANY OF THESE CASES LIKE YOURS?

Had to get up at night. Mr. Geo. Neville, Bridgeport, Conn., says: "I have been severly troubled with chronic kidney and bladder inflammation for years. Disturbed every few minutes both day and night. I finally tried MATAMEL, and consider myself completely well after 7 years of agonizing pain."

So dizzy, collapsed in street. "I collapsed in the street from dizzy spells," says Mrs. Cora Abernethy of Newark, N. J. "For 15 years I have suffered with my back. Was nervous, my head ached, skin itched and bladder hurt so I could not sleep. Was short of breath. Matamel has done for me what doctors and medicines failed to do. Pain is gone from bladder. I sleep all night without getting up. No more dizzy spells, aches or pains. Even my rheumatism has gone."

Feels 20 years younger. "I have been troubled with chronic kidney and bladder inflammation for 25 years," says Mr. Wm. Read of New Haven. "After taking Matamel I feel 100% better. I sleep fine, eat and can take my daily exercise. In fact, I feel 20 years younger."

Reading what Matamel has done for others will never help your case. You must decide to try it yourself. We don't say it will make you well in 2 or 3 days, but taken daily, it has steadily helped others in thousands of cases. Why not give Matamel a chance to help you, too? Get Matamel from ECKERD'S OF NEW CASTLE, INC.

Croton School Pupils Present Fine Operetta

Program Is Well Presented On Thursday Afternoon In Franklin Auditorium

Will Be Repeated This Evening; Is Notable Performance Throughout

Real living flowers that can dance, sing and talk, bright in their spring colors occupied the stage at the Franklin Junior High auditorium Thursday afternoon, while fairies, butterflies, brownies and bees flitted among them as the operetta, "A Mid-Summer's Day" was given by the school children of the Croton school.

And again on Friday night at 8:00 o'clock the beautiful scene may be seen and heard at the Franklin auditorium as the work of the golden sunbeams and sprinkling can girls and the hoes of the overall boys will revive the drooping flowers and the Child learn her lesson of caring for flowers from the Fairy Queen and her aids.

The operetta is wonderful in the costumes prepared for the children by the teachers and their parents and the melody of the little voices as they sing of their love for the flowers is a show that one should not miss.

The costumes are wonderful in their color scheme and in the way the children so nearly represent the different flowers as they were grouped on the stage. Eight different kinds of flowers are represented. Sixteen girls represent, Violets, Daisies, Primroses and Pinks while sixteen boys bear the petals of Nasturtiums, Poppies, Pansies and Asters.

The hit of the show is the duet sung by Miss Daisy and Master Popppy entitled "I'm So Shy." The band of flowers joined in the chorus.

In preparing the operetta not only were the children taught their parts but they were encouraged to enter into the deeper parts of the scheme. Many of them helped in the preparing of costumes and the different choices of colors were explained to them.

Vera Crisci, as the Child, and Virginia Kissick as the Fairy Queen, were the two leading actresses in the show, but it is doubtful if they did any better than Jennie Isabella, who as the Sunbonnet Baby made a sweet appeal to all that heard her.

Other children who took minor parts with much show of talent were Charles Campbell, Dorothy Buxton, Velmour McNaughton, Joe Bonfield, Muriel Bailey, Dorothy Delp, Robert Stephenson, Thelma Cline, Annie Polotte and Tony Perotte.

Music for the operetta was furnished by the Croton orchestra, composed of children of the first six grades of the Croton school. These little tots deserve high commendation, as they swung into the time of the chorus of nearly 150 voices in the finale of the play. Their accomplishment is the result of months of training by Miss Evea E. Coulter, the director, and the faithful practice of the 40 children that compose it.

MORE HELP NEEDED FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Ravages by the Mississippi flood are reported increasing, with a consequent increase in the number of refugees who are in need of both clothing and food. While many of those engaged in the needle trades have already responded generously, in the way of garments or otherwise, it is requested that those who have not done so send their contributions as liberally and promptly as possible.

It is urged that members of the needle trades cooperate to as great an extent as possible by sending their contributions to the American Red Cross, or to the trade organizations which are functioning to relieve the great distress.

Hundreds of men, no doubt, will attend the great sale that the Union Credit Clothing Store is going to inaugurate Saturday, May 21st and no doubt will buy some of the gigantic suit values advertised.

NOW MEN!

They want you to bring down an old suit and they will allow you $5.00 on any suit you buy above $20.00.

Army And Navy Masons To Attend Big Gathering

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, May 20.—Masons from every branch and every post of Uncle Sam's military and naval service will gather in Cleveland June 19, 20 and 21, for the seventh annual convention of the National Sojourners Club, an organization of commissioned officers.

The convention will be important in the club's history as the first it has held independent of any other Masonic meeting.

A large representation is expected from the seventy-one chapters which have been founded in past seven years.

Preparations for the convention are in the hands of Cleveland Chapter No. 23, with its president, Captain Robert L. Queisser, Sr., as chairman of the general convention committee.

Major General Amos H. Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, is president of the National Sojourners Club.

Present Play At Union High

Scotland Lane Pupils Star In School Theatrical Thursday

WILL REPEAT PROGRAM TONIGHT

"Safety First," a farce comedy was given in the auditorium of Union High School last night by the pupils of that school under the direction of Mrs. M. B. Dean and Imogene Roach.

Although there was not enough room in the auditorium of the school, more than 200 parents, sisters, brothers and admirers packed into the small meeting room to laugh at the pranks of the young actors.

The play will be repeated this evening, beginning at 8:15, and it will be well worth the time of those who missed the opening night. This evening's performance will be the last and promises to bring in an even larger crowd than the opening night.

The evening was opened with music from the school orchestra, and on the curtain rising we find poor little Mabel Montgomery, acted by Jessey Beonnett, the wife of Jack Montgomery, crying on the lounge. On the entrance of Mary Ann O'Finnerty, the old Irish cook, we learn that Mr. Montgomery has not been home during the night just passed. The worth of Clela Flemming, taking the part of Mary Ann, was shown by the fact that the feeling of the audience was mutual in that all wanted to put her to sleep with a paving brick or some other hard substance. Mary Ann would prophesy first that the young husband had been killed for his money, then that he had been drowned, or perhaps some one had held a grudge against him and burned him to ashes so that no trace would ever be found of him. At least she was certain that he met some horrible death.

As the play goes on we find that Jerry Arnold, acted by Lawrence Gibson, and Zuleika, Isabel Wallace giving her best to act the difficult role of a beautiful Turkish maiden, with the "most wonderful eyes," as expressed by Elmer Flannell, Daniel Weyrick, the young cousin of Jack, is missing.

Of course the plot thickens as plots are wont to do and during the first part of the play we have the pleasure of meeting Mr. McNutt, Thomas Grittie taking the part of a defective detective. Abon Ben Mocha, Charles Llewellyn playing as the father of Zuleika, Virginia Bridger, Mrs. Arnold's young sister, acted by Catherine Hannon, Mrs. Harrington Bridger, the mamma of Virginia and Jessey.

Well, folks, Mr. Montgomery and Jerry Arnold return, along with plenty of trouble, for they are arrested by the defective detective as having kicked one of the Irish cops in the stomach. A little bribery fixes things so that the two unfortunates are supposed to be going to Florida, instead of the rock pile.

Well, things are going on better now that the two young erring husbands are safe in jail. Whoops, my dear, here comes some more, word is received from the ship the two men were to have sailed on, stating that many had been washed overboard during a big storm. Of course the young wife thinks her poor husband was gone, but he's not. Everything ends fine, and we leave the young couples happy in the end.

Much credit must be given Walter Keeler, who acted the part of the young husband. Walter took the leading part in a fine way, assisted by the first class acting of his wife. McNutt and Mary Ann O'Finnerty were the best, where laughs are concerned. Abou Ben Mocha was a hard role for an experienced actor to play, yet Charles Llewellyn did his part in a first class manner. It is the first time on the stage for Charles and he gives promise of showing up well in coming plays.

Perhaps the best parts in the play could be placed where Jack and Jerry explain how it was that they were not downed when they were on the boat, and again when young Arnold disguises as McNutt, and the two cause much excitement for the audience, those two mixing things up for fair.

Every thing ends fine though, we find that McNutt wins the cook, Elmer Flannell marries—no, that would be telling, you had better come to see the play this evening and enjoy a real time as the young stars carry you off into the atmosphere of the play and keep you there for over two hours.

May Change From Brick To Asphalt

Council May Not Have Brick Laid In North Hill Thoroughfares

If Contractor Has Ordered Brick Council Will Not Order Change

Providing the Olsen Company has not ordered brick and the majority of property owners in North Mercer street and Delaware avenue sign a petition asking for asphalt paving on a concrete base, brick will be abandoned as the material for paving those streets, council said today.

However, should the contractor have purchased his brick and should the city be held liable for authorizing a change from the contract awarded the Olsen Company, the thoroughfares will be paved with brick.

Their statement today in council followed a request of some Delaware avenue property owners that asphalt material be laid. They said residents did not desire a brick pavement.

The delegation said that it had been the impression that asphalt or concrete would be laid. A petition which had been carried and signed was not presented to council.

Council stated that the brick material was selected because the city had succeeded in getting a big reduction on a brick bid and they deemed it advisable to pave with brick.

Solicitor Robert White, delegated by Councilman Tyler and colleagues to confer with the Olsen Company officials, will communicate with the firm today.

Should the brick already have been contracted for, council will not deviate from their contract. Should brick not have been bought, and the contractor acquisce in the request, asphalt will be laid.

The cost of asphalt paving on a concrete base will be slightly less than the brick paving.

Volunteers Will Attend Funeral Of Miss Foster

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 20. — Officers of the local headquarters of the Volunteers of America left today to attend the funeral of Lieut. Murna Foster in New Castle, Pa., tomorrow.

Miss Foster who had charge of Juvenile work for the volunteers in Pittsburgh, was preparing to return here after the funeral of her uncle when her clothing ignited from a stove in the home of her parents and she was fatally burned.

She was the founder of clubs for boys and girls here and was a prominent social worker.

Ticket No. 53

"Good evening ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience, of New Castle, Pennsylvania.

"This is Graham McNamee speaking.

"I just want to remind you again by "wireless" that I am going to be in your city next Tuesday evening at the big concert at Franklin Junior High Auditorium.

"If any of my audience on that occasion were among those who "bombarded" me with new mufflers, raincoats, collars, shoes, and with bonbons, fudge, taffy, and candy enough to start a confectionery, after I had stuck it out in the rain to tell you of that great game that finished the big series between the Pirates and Washington at Pittsburgh two years ago, I say if any of my New Castle doners are in my audience on next Tuesday evening, I shall certainly be happy to say "thank you" in person, for I never could have sent personal letters to everyone that sent me unexpected gifts.

"Get busy now fans, and help your New Castle boys and girls put the big concert by the Band, Orchestra and Glee clubs over in "bang up" fashion. Every cent that is realized from this concert goes half to the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Clinic conducted by the B. P. W. and half to the School Fund from which is purchased uniforms, and instruments for any promising boy or girl of any school in the city who might not otherwise get a chance to learn to play an instrument.

"Don't forget that this is the only time during the entire school year that these organizations ask you to support them, but that rarely, if ever is there anything of a community or civic nature that one of these organizations is not called upon to render their services without any remuneration.

"The price of admission is very reasonable so get your ticket without delay at the Snyder Piano Co., North Mercer St. Goodnight."

Demoniacal Blast Kills Children

This first and exclusive picture of the consolidated school at Bath, Michigan, shows the ruins after a huge dynamite blast that wrecked one wing of the building, killing two score persons, mostly children. Rescue workers are shown searching the debris for injured and dead. Andrew Kehoe, himself killed by one of the two explosions, is believed to have set the blast because taxes for the school cost him his farm. Picture speeded from the scene by telephoto and fast train. (International Newsreel.)

Scout Activities

Troop 19

The Third U. P. church troop 19 held its regular business meeting Tuesday evening with a large attendance. Scoutmaster Hook was in charge. Three members of the troop committe were also present.

The meeting was opened by giving the Scout oath and the Scout laws. Instructions were given to the boys in first aid by Mr. Forringer.

The following boys volunteered to do cemetery service on Memorial Day. This troop has been scheduled to do this service at St. Vitus cemetery. Herbert Sines, Homer Leslie, Robert Frazier, James Hiles, Kenneth Calderwood, Arthur Bovard, James Hill, Edgar McCowan, John Grommes, William Grommes, William McConnell, Allen Cartwright, William White and Raymond Bates.

Scribe—James Hiles.

New Wilmington Troop 1

The New Wilmington troop 1, recently organized, met Tuesday evening for a regular business meeting. A very large attendance of scouts were present and from all appearances, this new troop will take large strides forward until it is ranked among the older and more advanced troops of the Lawrence County council. Scoutmaster Jack Hulme and Assistant Scoutmaster Edward Brown were in charge of the meeting. Outdoor work was done by the scouts and instructions in tenderfoot tests were given.

Scribe—Fay Dresh.

Troop 14

The following boys of the Y. W. C. A. troop 14 have volunteered to do cemetery service on Memorial Day: Harry Almon, Robert Allen, Donald Boyd, Frank Boyd, Theodore Bell, James Cochrane, Curtis Davis, Harry Hook, Harold Morgan, Carl McClelland, Charles McHenry, Silas Pryor, Clinton Payne, Henry Rose, Thomas Farrow, Withe Shepherd, Thos. Smith, Harold Watson, Donald Williams, John Young and Frederick Wilkes will work at Greenwood cemetery.

THAT'S THE TROUBLE!

"How do you tune those jazz instruments?"

Special Services At Nazarene Church

Rev. O. L. Benedum Gives Powerful Message On Text "But He Answered Nothing"

Great service at the Nazarene revival last night. The meeting opened with a prayer service at 7:15 with a good company present. By the time of the main service the church was well filled. Rev. Rowe led the song and praise meeting. The East Liverpool quartet gave three special numbers in song which were much enjoyed by all. They have been invited back to sing again during this special series of meetings.

Rev. O. L. Benedum brought the evening sermon from a text in Mark 15:3—"But he answered nothing."

Tonight is the big night. The service begins at 7:15 with prayer followed by a very interesting program on the subject "The Cigarette and the Boy." This subject to be lectured by Virgil Finnell of Indianapolis, Indiana, illustrated by 90 beautifully stereopticon slides. Mr. Chas. Fillmore will sing his piece "Tell Mother I'll Be There" and other pieces of his composition. Mr. Fillmore is a member of the well known music house, The Fillmore Music Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio. Both of these men are representing the No-Tobacco League of America. Their subject is one which this league is trying to get across to the youth of America showing the deadly effect of the cigarette and hence preparing the way for the wiping out of this evil in the coming generation. A delegation from East Liverpool will attend tonight in a body.

Woman Is Killed; Struck By Taxicab

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 20. — Mrs. Sophia Golinbeski, 35, was dead here today the result of stepping in front of a taxi cab following a quarrel with her husband and three men friends, according to police.

Police said the woman had started to run from the group after they threatened her during the quarrel, and did not see the oncoming taxi. She received a broken neck and died in a hospital a short time after the accident.

Suspect In Auto Fatality Still Evading Officers

Man Who Was With New Castle Woman When Killed Is Still At Large

BUTLER, Pa., May 20.—Williard Fair, wanted in connection with the wreck on the Chicora road in which Mrs. Gertrude Dugan Davis of New Castle was killed, has not yet been apprehended. It has been learned that Fair left Butler on a Pennsylvania railroad train, shortly after the accident, but since that time no trace of him can be found.

Fair, is is said, was commonly known as "Dick" around Butler, and had but recently served a term of one year in the workhouse for violating the liquor laws. Fair's home is in Cabot, but efforts of the police to locate him there were futile.

The story of Joseph Yokel, who is held in jail in connection with the case, that he had been left along side of the road and that he knew nothing of the accident until he arrived upon the scene Wednesday morning, was confirmed when John Reighard of East Brady, an employe of Harry Wimer, local contractor, and at the present time working on the Phillips property on the plank road, verified Yokel's statement.

According to Reighard, he picked Yokel up at the filling station at the foot of the Chicora hill and the stranded man told him that he had been left behind on the trip. Mr. Reighard said that he picked Yokel up about 6:30 o'clock and that at about 6:45 they came to the scene of the accident. When he saw the wreck, Yokel asked to be permitted to alight and the notifying of the police followed.

Fair, it was said by local authorities could be held on three charges if caught, including manslaughter, failure to render assistance after an accident and reckless driving. A country-wide search is being made for the driver of the car.

Poor Visibility On Atlantic Coast

Weather Bureau Says Fog Blanket Prevails On Atlantic

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 20.—Generally foggy weather prevails off the Atlantic coast, and there is a particularly heavy mist over the grand banks, the weather bureau announced shortly after the hop-off of Captain Charles Lindbergh for Paris.

"Visibility in and about the city is poor, and it is unlikely it is any better in a northeasterly direction between here and the Grand Banks," it was said.

"Latest reports early this morning were that the fog over the banks was a veritable blanket," the forecaster said. "Local observations would tend to show the presence of a lighter fog over the entire coast.

"From the meteorological point of view, the time was not auspicious for the hop-off. If our reports are correct, it would be easy for the flier to lose his way over the Grand Banks his last point of calculation before he takes to the open sea.'

No storms were in prospect, however, according to latest available reports.

"Wa-a-ll", said the foreman, disgustedly, "you kin bring us 11 dinners". Then he added, reflectively, "and a bale of hay".

American Demands For Pearls Causes Epidemic Of Thefts

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 20.—A demand in America and India for pearls is said to be responsible for an epidemic of pearl necklace thefts which is now engaging the attention of some of the best brains of the Scotland Yard detective corps.

"There have been a tremendous number of pearl necklace thefts recently" said one official, "and it is obvious that a gang is at work that is specializing in pearls and does not trouble to remove other jewelry even when it is lying handy.

"The necklaces are immediately broken up and smuggled to India and America, we believe, where they are fetching high prices at the moment."

Woman Gold Miner Starts Search For Rich Ore In Earnest

(International News Service)

GASTONIA, N. C., May 20—Gold mining is being revived in the ruddy hills of Gaston county.

The country's newest gold-mining venture is being made by a woman, Mrs. W. B. Pruett, of Belmont.

The gold mine is located on the Pruett farm near here. Preparations for operating the mine have been in progress for several weeks.

While gold has been mined in this section periodically since the Civil War, but this is the first big venture in a number of years.

Indiana Dry Law Punishes Drinkers

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 20—If you drink in Indiana, don't admit it. For admission of having imbibed makes one liable to conviction for violation of the state bone dry law.

Judge James A. Collins of Marion county criminal court thus ruled recently in refusing to permit a witness to reply to a question whether he had been drinking "quite heavily" prior to a certain event.

"Should the witness reply in the affirmative, he would incriminate himself under the Wright bone-dry law and under the constitution, he cannot be compelled to incriminate himself". Judge Collins ruled.

Nevertheless, sellers of malt and other beer-making compounds continue to conduct extensive advertising campaigns here.

Court Action Is Taken Against Drivers In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 20. — Court action has been taken by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways against between twenty-five and thirty persons who were detected making false oaths to obtain operators' licenses, Benjamin G. Eynon, registrar of motor vehicles said today. In each of the cases the operator's license had been suspended for a major offense.

The falsified answers given under oath were detected by checking the information on file in each revocation case. The penalty specified by the motor code for conviction of the offense is a fine of $100 to $200 or six months imprisonment. Eynon asserted that in many former cases courts have imposed both.

Members of the Highway patrol apprehended two of the persons accused while operating without a license and during a period of suspension. The other cases were discovered by a check of the department files. Revocation and suspension, according to the code, may be lengthened for conviction on a second charge.

The bureau cited the case of Harry Slomovitz, of Wilkes-Barre as a typical instance. Slomovitz was convicted in the Luzerne county courts of a charge of illegally transporting liquor. The bureau, upon certification, suspended his license and warned him that a jail sentence and heavy fine might follow failure to abide by the order of the department.

A short time later Slomovitz, according to the bureau filed application for a license. He replied in the negative to a question regarding former suspension or revocation. The bureau checked the records of the former suspension and brought charges against him of "mis-statement of facts under oath." He is now being held under $200 bail for trial.

Eynon asserted that it is almost impossible for an operator to secure a license during a period of revocation or suspension and that efforts to evade the law only added to the troubles of the applicant.

South Carolina Motorists Aided By "Blue Law Cans"

(International News Service)

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Mal 20.—"Blue Law cans" are the latest thing out in South Carolina, following in the wake of Governor Richards' blue law crusade.

And dealers throughout the state are profiting, in one respect, from the gubernatorial edict banning the sale of galsoline on Sundays.

Motorists who use light automobiles with small tanks, and who like to make long trips over the week-end, are the purchasers of the "blue law cans."

They enable the motorist to take enough gas along with him to complete his week-end jaunt.

Minerals! vitamins! bran!

—for growth and health

For normal growth in children and radiant health in grown-ups, more than mere quantity of food is now known to be necessary.

That is why the whole-grain foods are now being considered so valuable by nutrition authorities. For they supply health essentials too often neglected.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk provides many things needed to make children grow—and to keep grown-ups really well. Minerals! Vitamins! And the oat bran, which is unusually tender and so valuable for roughage in these days of too-highly-refined cereals!

The careful millers of Quick Mother's Oats have learned how to mill it to a fine, even texture—so that it always cooks up smoothly, the way you like it. It tastes good, too.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, for which you may receive silverware, a dinner set, toilet articles—many other things you want.

Road Project Is Endorsed

Chamber Of Commerce Favors Improvement Of Edenburg Highway

OTHER MATTERS BEFORE CHAMBER

The board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, at their regular semi-monthly luncheon meeting held in the Elks' club, at 12:15 P. M. Thursday, May 19, took up for discussion and acted upon many matters of great importance to the city of New Castle and the adjacent community.

Walter Duff, accompanied by Mr. Ernshaw and Mr. McClelland, of Hillsville, explained to the board the importance of building a hard surface road from the New Castle-Youngstown road at Parkstown to Edenburg. After thoroughly discussing this the directors endorsed this project and President Rentz appointed as a committee to work with the residents of Edenburg and Hillsville Messrs. J. A. Appleton, J. B. Foster and R. J. Tully.

In giving this endorsement it was the opinion of the board that this road leading from Parkstown to Edenburg and Hillsville was the most important unimproved road now in Lawrence county, as this is a part of the proposed Benjamin Franklin highway leading from coast to coast, and in addition will connect with one of the principal state highways of Ohio and serve a territory in the extreme western part of the county that up to this time has not had its proper amount of hard surface roads, and in endorsing this project the board felt this endorsement would not conflict with the endorsement given to the Eastbrook-Volant and the New Wilmington-Pulaski roads, as they have been placed on the Omnibus Bill, and the endorsement of this road is for immediate construction.

Herbert Peairs of the General Organization Company submitted a report to the board on the expansion movement. The directors were very highly pleased at the results obtained and extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Peairs for his effective work in this movement.

In discussing future procedure of the chamber it was decided to revise the By-Laws and increase the directorate from fourteen to eighteen in order that the membership may have a more widely distributed representation. The president appointed as a By-Law committee:—Messrs. T. W. Dickey chairman, O. P. Brown and I. M. Ramsey.

The matter of additional quarters for the chamber offices, in order that more room may be had to carry on the increased activities of the organization, was discussed and the president appointed as a committee to decide upon this Messrs. David S. Pyle, Hon. S. P. Emery and L. B. Round.

An invitation was extended to the Pennsylvania Insurance Federation, who will hold their annual convention in Philadelphia the early part of next week and of which Joseph C. Williams of New Castle, is now president, to hold their 1928 convention in New Castle.

It was reported to the board that all of the advertising in connection with New Castle's Expansion Movement had been contributed free of charge by Fred L. Rentz and The New Castle News Company, and the board of directors extended to Mr. Rentz and The News Company a vote of thanks for their excellent cooperation, and they also extended a vote of thanks to all of those who participated in the expansion movement and those who contributed to the budget fund and subscribed for memberships at that time.

This meeting was one of the most enthusiastic and best attended meetings of the board ever held. President Fred L. Rentz presided and in addition to President Rentz the directors present were: Messrs. J. A. Appleton, J. B. Foster, T. W. Dickey, L. B. Round, J. K. Love, Hon. G. T. Weingartner, Hon. S. P Emery, David S. Pyle, A. C. Hoyt, I. M. Ramsey, O. P. Brown, R. J. Tully and Secretary Chilton. The only director absent being James M. Smith whose absence was necessitated by his being out of the city.

Erie Resident Is Granted Bail In Venango County

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 20.—Harry R. Gordon, Erie, today was released from the Venango county jail after an unidentified Erie friend furnished $2,000 bond on which he was held for court on a charge of violating the prohibition law. He was arrested on May 4, in Oil City when 144 pints of whiskey were found in his car, authorities said.

Gordon pleaded not guilty at a hearing, but his car was confiscated and he was held in bond.

White To Confer With Butz Counsel

City Would Like To Open Lorain Street Near Martin And Haus

Council today in formal session at the city building, ordered Solicitor White to communicate with Attorney John Lockhart, counsel for the Butz property owners and ascertain what it will cost for the city to obtain part of their land in Lorain street.

It is said that a man who wants to improve Lorain street by building and who needs an outlet is being held back because it will be necessary for the city to cut through some of the Butz land.

Sheep Killing Dog Slain By Woman

BATAVIA, N. Y., May 20.—The first woman to capture a sheep-killing dog since the night quarantine has been in effect in this county was Mrs. Ruth Shaw daughter of Deforest Kelsey of the Creek road. Mrs. Shaw trailed a large dog that she had seen attacking the sheep and finally captured him. She immediately called Sheriff George H. Legg.

"I've caught a dog that has been in our sheep flocks. What shall I do with him?" Mrs. Shaw asked the sheriff.

"Well I could come out but it isn't necessary" answered the sheriff. "Just get somebody to shoot him."

"I don't need anybody to shoot him" Mrs. Shaw replied. "I'll do it myself. All I wanted was a word from you giving me the authority."

Prizes Awarded To Winners In Poster Contest

Elizabeth Randles From Senior High And Lura Jenkins, Junior High, Win First Prize

Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett, superintendent of the Anti-Narcotic department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Lawrence county presented the prizes to the successful winners of the anti-narcotic poster contest which has just closed in the Senior and Junior high schools of this city at the chapel exercises this morning.

Those winning the awards were the following:

North Street Junior High—First prize, Lura Jenkins, 7-A; second prize, Allison Pitsch, Ben Franklin, 8-B3; honorable mention, Fred Fleeger, Ben Franklin 8-A2.

About 200 posters were made by the students. All were exceptionally well done and showed excellent training on the part of the instructors.

The judges had a very difficult time in trying to select what was considered the best poster from every point of view. The message or slogan, coloring and lettering were all very fine. The judges included L. A. Pearsol, Mrs. Frank Burton and Miss Nell Sherrad.

WHISKY PARALYZES BOY SIX YEARS OLD, WHO MAY NOT LIVE

MARTINS FERRY, O., May 20.—Adolphe Kogut, 6, was received at the hospital completely paralyzed and believed dying from drinking what Dr. F. P. Sutherland says was poisoned whiskey. Pete Garlock, 15, alleged to have given the boy liquor, is under arrest after running amuck on the street and attacking several persons. Garlock's father is also under arrest.

E. J. Berquist Returns From Mission Convention

E. J. Berquist, superintendent of the City Mission returned yesterday from Indianapolis, Ind., where he had spent the past five days attending the 14th annual convention of the International Union of Gospel Missions of the United States and Canada .The convention was largely attended by mission superintendents and special speakers and more than one thousand delegates were present. Mission work in general was the main topic of discussion and the best methods and means for the best interest of missions in general. It was a very successful and helpful convention.

It was decided that the 15th annual convention be held in the city of Vancouver, British Columbia, next May. Several other cities were bidding for the convention, but the strong call and plea came from Vancouver and surrounding territories.

Finnish Boat Wins Big Marathon Race

(International News Service)

QUEENSTOWN, May 20.—The Finish four-masted barque Herzogin Cecilie, just arrived at Queenstown, has won the race of the British Isles for which 13 old-time wind-jammers started from various Australian ports during the early part of this year.

Herzogin Cecilie, with a cargo of wheat, took 88 days for the voyage. Captain Reubens D. Claux, her skipper, said they had had a splendid voyage, with fine weather throughout until they reached the Irish Coast.

"Naturally, my crew are proud of Cecilie's achievement," he said. "It is no mean one for a wind-jammer, via Cape Horn, in these days of steam, oil and motor-driven ships.

The other twelve vessels—three German, eight Finish and one Swedish — are all carrying cargoes of wheat. Only two are fitted with radio.

MAN WITH END OF NOSE CHEWED OFF SETTLES FOR $800

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa., May 20.—The tip of a man's nose is valued at $800, under an agreement reached in common pleas court of Washington county before Judge James I. Brownson.

Cooper Kutz sued Larry Cirilli for the loss of part of the former's nose.

According to evidence in court the two men had a fight. The defendant, who has only one arm, was the under man when the two clinched and went down. Cirilli could not get his one arm loose. Consequently he reached up with his teeth and nipped off the end of Kutz's nose. It was said Kutz spent $600 to repair his olfactory organ.

SIX-MONTHS' DRUNK GETS DIVORCE FOR MASONTOWN WOMAN

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 20.—On the grounds that after her marriage to J. H. Hall of Masontown, he went on a six month's drunk; that he broke her nose several times and that he locked her in a closet and pulled her hair out of her head, Mrs. Dauphine Hall, also of Masontown, was granted a divorce decree.

Mrs. Ethel Shirer of Hill Coke, was granted a divorce when she testified that her husband knocked out her teeth.

DRUMMER BOY OF SHILOH IS DYING

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 20.—John E. Butler, "youngest" of Franklin's Civil War veterans, and who at the age of 14 attained fame as the "drummer boy of Shiloh," while a member of an Indiana regiment, is believed dying at his home here. Butler has been seriously ill for the past week and his death is expected momentarily. He is 77 and, until his present illness set in, was active in business.

Five College Men Separate After Seven Year's Association

Spend Four Years At Westminster And Three In Seminary Together

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—After enjoying seven years as college chums, fate, in the form of commencement at the United Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh will scatter five young men to the far corners of the earth.

Stillman Foster of Cambridge, N. Y.; Ferdinand Vogan of Sandy Lake, Frank Black of Dayton, Clifford Strangeway of Argyle, N. Y., and Rayburn Campbell of Bridgeville, entered Westminster as freshmen in 1920. They followed the way of all college youths for four years, receiving diplomas in 1924.

The following fall saw the five college grads residing in the seminary dormitory. Three more years of intensive study and the young men received their theological degrees. Now they have started on the roads which will carry them to their life's work.

Stillman Foster has accepted the pastorate of the Crafton Heights United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh. Ferdinand Vogan has left for Greensboro, Vermont, where he has accepted a charge. Campbell is on his way to the eastern section of the state of Washington to begin his preaching duties. Both Strangeway and Black are under appointments as missionaries to India and will probably leave in the fall.

At present Strangeway is religious director of the McKeesport Y. M. C. A., while Black is in charge of churches at Richmond, Mahoning and Symrna, in Pennsylvania.

MAY PAGEANT IN COLLEGE GYMNASIUM

GROVE CITY, Pa., May 20. — The annual May Day Pageant to be presented by the students of Grove City College, will be presented in the Ketler Gymnasium instead of at the college athletic field, due to the wet and muddy condition of the field. The announcement was made today that two full performances of the pageant will be given in the gymnasium, at 3:00 in the afternoon and 8:00 in the evening, with an admission charge of fifty cents. All arrangements have been completed for the May Festival, which promises to be one of the best to be produced here.

NO FOUR REVOKE NATURALIZATION

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 20. — The naturalization papers of a number of Italians stood revoked today by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson following the filing of an information that the individuals had returned to their homeland.

Among those whose papers were revoked were:

Vincenzo Russo, Beaver; Vincenzo Barbarino, Clearfield; Angelo Capozzolo, Washington; and John Galiardi, Washington.

South To Try Diversified Crops As Farmers Turn Away From Cotton

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, May 20. — The Southern farmer threatens to take diversification more seriously this year than ever before. With nearly half of the year gone, reports here show that except in the flood-swept districts the farmers have come to realize they cannot depend wholly upon cotton again.

Specially in Georgia is this true, although this state has never been a one-crop section exclusively and many farmers have grown truck, wheat and feed and even poultry in addition to cotton. Cotton has not been a paying crop for years owing to overproduction.

Tobacco has taken an important place among Georgia crops, and a tobacco belt fair is planned in Coffee County, October 24 to 28. Georgia grows a bright leaf said to be more popular than the dark leaf grown in other states. Georgia grew about 49,000,000 pounds last year and this was sold on the market for $9,000,000.

Teaching The Young

A more promising circumstance is the fact that thousands of boys and girls in Georgia are being taught practical diversification in town and rural schools. They are not being taught by the book but by actual problems of handling stock and poultry and planting, harvesting and marketing of crops.

The results of these practical lessons are considered excellent. In the Salt City, Ga., High School ten boys under a teacher in vocational agriculture fed 85 hogs as a study from January to April and total or a net profit of $3.85 on each made a profit of $325.57 on the hog.

Promising Signs

Much better results would have been obtained had the boys been able to use home-grown feed, it was said. The pigs fed were animals that could be purchased easily and some made poor gains on account of being scrub stock.

Another promising sign of diversification is the growing pecan industry in this state. Thousands of pounds of pecans were sold in the state last year, and recently 65 acres near Leesburg, Ga., which were planted with pecans, brought about $400 an acre.

Grandfather Club Honors Founder

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 20—Eighty grandfathers, everyone of them over 60 years of age, and several over 90, walked with bowed heads in pathetic procession through the streets of Walworth, a London suburb, to pay a last tribute at the local cemetery to Joseph H. Roots, the founder of the only Grandfather's Club in England, who recently died at the age of 80.

College Seniors In Cap And Gown

Westminster Graduates Are Now Wearing Robes Of Honor

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—Probably the busiest individuals on the Westminster College campus at the present time are the members of the Senior class.

Thursday morning, following a tradition of the college, the Seniors donned caps and gowns and attended chapel in this attire. With the entire student body standing, the Seniors walked down the center aisle of the U. P. church auditorium to their places in the front of the church. They retired in the same manner. This will continue each morning until the end of the year.

Almost daily rehearsals for the Senior sing are being held in the Conservatory of Music. This event will take place Friday evening, May 27, the evening before May Day. It will be given on the spot formerly occupied by the south steps of Old Main, the administration building which was destroyed by fire January 24.

The committee which has been directing the rehearsals and will be in charge, is composed of Miss Mary Smith and Miss Willa Boyd of New Wilmington and Robert Ferguson of Bellevue.

Hugh Gamble of Sharon, valedictorian of the class, is busy with his address for the commencement program June 8, as is James Patterson of Mercer, salutatorian. Miss Nancy Miller and Miss Helen Davidson of Ingram are the other honor students.

Dayton Museum Gets Mummified Pharaoh

(International News Service)

DAYTON, O., May 20.—One of the two mummies of former Egyptian royalty which were probably the last specimens to leave Egypt before the passage of the new law prohibiting shipment from that country of the contents of ancient tombs, reposes in the Dayton museum today.

The other specimen, said to be the mummy of an Egyptian princess who lived 700 years B. C. has just been received by the State Archaeological Museum at Columbus.

The two mummies were obtained and presented to the museums by Dr. J. Morton Howell, United States Minister to Egypt, who has submitted his resignation, to return to Dayton, his home, because of the ill health of Mrs. Howell.

Florida School Budget Increased

(International News Service)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 20. —School children of Florida got approximately $20,000,000 more worth of education in 1925-26 than in 1923-24.

Recently compiled official figures show that state and federal moneys spent in Florida in 1925-26 for educational purposes totalled $33,129,036.77 as compared with $13,444,935.20 in 1923-24.

LOST, ALL RIGHT

"Look at the lost ball I found on the links, father", he said.

"But you are sure, Tommy", said Mr. Traddles, "that it was a lost ball really?"

"Oh, yes", said the boy. "I saw the man and his caddy looking for it."

Hoover May Pinch Hit If Coolidge Is Barred

Secretary Of Commerce Appears On Horizon As Most Likely Presidential Timber In Event Of Certain Complications Over "Third Term"

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News).

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Herbert Hoover, pinch-hitter for three administrations, is in a position to serve as an emergency man when the Republicans hold their next national convention—if an emergency arising out of "third-term" complications makes it advisable for Calvin Coolidge not to be nominated.

The Secretary of Commerce, who has tackled and solved more difficult economic, engineering, and humanitarian jobs than any other man in public life since the day when Woodrow Wilson took him from his world-wide engineering exploits to feed a continent torn by war, has been quoted off and on as having no desire to be a nominee for President of the United States. But, despite these alleged private expressions of opinion, Herbert Hoover makes no public statement on this subject, and he has the Washington politicians guessing.

Hoover Looms

Certainly, if evidence is really produced to prove that Coolidge back in 1912 belonged to the anti-third-term league, formed under the leadership of Coolidge's own friend and guide, Murray Crane, or if there is an uprising of popular sentiment against a president serving more than eight years, the Republicans have no one personality so capable of stirring popular enthusiasm as Herbert Hoover—the man who is assigned to all the great emergencies which require engineering, economic, and administrative ability, ranging from the problem of carrying out an orderly and humanitarian distribution of food and fuel during a war and later planning the orderly production of all sorts of commodities during peace, to the problem of bringing relief to an area destroyed by floods and finally planning engineering projects to prevent such catastrophes on the Mississippi in the future.

Hoover has been doing some strange things politically lately—things which might indicate that he knows he is in a position to defy the administration when he wishes, and increase rather than lose the tremendous power he has built up for himself. Said to control two or three Cabinet posts, and certainly idolized by big business even more than Andrew Mellon is, the Secretary of Commerce recently ranged out of his field of domestic commerce and invaded the fields of diplomacy and international finance to tell the United States Chamber of Commerce that if nations and international bankers would refuse to lend money for war purposes, the problem of peace would be solved. Secretary of State Kellogg was forced to confess that Hoover's opinion was not the Administration's official stand. The Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Treasury usually handle these matters of diplomacy and international finance.

Curious Incident

Then, there was the curious incident of the rumor that Kellogg was about to resign, and that Hoover would be elevated to his place. President Coolidge rather testily made it known that Kellogg was not considering retiring, and that, even if he did, Hoover would not be promoted to his office. Hoover is too essential where he is, the President pointed out. True but, after all, the Secretary of State holds a higher position than the Secretary of Commerce.

So Washington observers, considering these two incidents, are wondering if Hoover is not preparing himself to take the Republican nomination for President in 1928 if Coolidge is eliminated.

Brought into public life by Woodrow Wilson, there was a time when Hoover could doubtless have had the Democratic nomination for the presidency. And at the same time, in 1920, the Republicans did a little flirting with him. It was then that he let his political affiliations be known, for the first time. When Harding was elected, he became Secretary of Commerce, and has held the position for six years.

Business Behind Him

Hoover has the business interests of the country, East and West, behind him. He is internationally known, and trusted. His knowledge of engineering and water power problems have endeared him to the West, although, of course, he has enemies among the politicians of his own state, California. He is working on the farm problem. And he has said as little about prohibition as he had said about party politics before 1920. He could easily avoid bringing prohibition into the campaign if he should be nominated. The Republicans earnestly desire that prohibition should be kept out of the campaign.

Herbert Hoover's rise has been phenomenal. The boy who worked his way through Stanford University by waiting on tables and doing odd jobs has fed continents and done the nation's odd jobs. He was offered a high position in the British Government, with a peerage as a consequence, if he would relinquish the United States for England. This was the man who, as a university student, had opposed the minor aristocracy of college fraternities.

The list of universities and colleges all over the world which have conferred honorary degrees on him consumes nearly four lines in the Congressional Directory. No other man in the Cabinet has been so honored by educational institutions. He is an honorary citizen of Belgium, and a freeman in several European cities. Medal after medal has been placed on his breast. He has engaged in engineering projects in a dozen countries on both sides of the globe. He has called almost every branch of industry in the United States into conference, and has made them want to undertake the standarization and simplification of their product which he believes necessary to profitable production, economic distribution, and low prices to the ultimate consumer. He has worked with organized labor and organized business. He has made himself the apex of the economic structure of the country.

The manufacturer and the seller find Hoover devising ways to increase their profits. The consumer finds him trying to lower prices. The working man finds him trying to reduce unemployment. The farmer hears that he is working on some plan to solve his problems. He has never been a militarist, but he has helped solve the problems incident to war.

A well-authenticated story is that he had a staff of a dozen people at the last Republican convention to prevent his name from even being whispered on the floor as the nominee for vice president to run with Calvin Coolidge. This seems to indicate that he had higher ambitions.

Reports Given At Hadassah Meeting

Splendid Account Of Year's Activities—Mrs. Davis Of Pittsburgh Principal Speaker

At the annual meeting of Hadassah held at the Beth Shalom Centre, an interesting acount of the Reginal conference held in Pittsburgh last month was read by Mrs. B. M. Berger, the accredited delegate.

The secretaries who gave their reports were Mrs. H. Rush and Mrs. R. Rubenson. The chairman who gave fine accounts of the year's activities were Mrs. M. Reinhart for fund raising, Mrs. E. Kaplin for membership, Mrs. A. Goldman for hospitality, Mrs. H. Cukerbaum for national fund, Mrs. B. M. Berger of Milk Bottle Fund and Mrs. Charles Levine for music and program.

Mrs. L. Kohn gave the president's message and the work of the cultural committee.

Following the business session, some very fine numbers were given on the piano by Mrs. I. Davis an accomplished pianist from Pittsburgh.

The main attraction of the evening was the address by Mrs. Barnett Davis of Pittsburgh, long associated with Zionist affairs, at present president of the Pittsburgh Home for Babies in addition to being active in many other commendible undertakings. She related incidents relative to her trip to Palestine and laid particular stress on the Holy sites of the Holy Land.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

"Whirling" out hidden impurities has made this new ATLANTIC "MEDIUM" the cleanest motor oil you have ever used

The "whirling" principle of the centrifugal machines used in the refining of the new Atlantic Motor Oils, to remove the waxes and other impurities not caught by the filters.

The "filtering" principle. Filtering alone (through fullers' earth) cannot remove all the waxy and other impurities which must be eliminated to produce perfect motor oil.

MOST everyone knows that crude petroleum contains all sorts of constituents. Among them is a quick-melting, waxy substance which "breaks down" under heat. It is one of the greatest of all enemies of motor oil. It thins down the oil. Weakens the oil film. Causes excessive evaporation.

Ordinary distilling and filtering processes do not completely remove these undesirable elements. So Atlantic engineers, using Nature's centrifugal laws, have added a whirling process. The new Use this new Atlantic Motor Oil and you have the finest motor lubricant money can buy.

It is clean. It will retain its "body" long after ordinary oils "break down." It is not appreciably reduced in volume or changed in character through evaporation under motor heat. It has the smoothest, toughest lubricating film ever attained in motor oil manufacture.

Mothers Told Of Scouting At Banquet Of Girl Scouts

Wheeling Regional Director Gives Inspiring Address To Girls And Mothers

Rank And Merit Badges Presented To Many Girls On Thursday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., May 20.—"There is always something just around the corner in scouting", said Mrs. Addie Harrison, Regional Director of the Wheeling region, as she awarded rank and merit badges to sixty-two girls at the mothers and daughters banquet of the Ellwood City Girl Scouts, in the Baptist church last evening.

One hundred and sixty were served, including Girl Scouts, their mothers, members of the community committee, and special guests, Mrs. Harrison and Miss Nettie Leofler, Local Director, of Wheeling.

After dinner, there was singing of scout songs by the girls and roll call of attendance. Bernice Wilson Troop reported 23 girls, 15 mothers, and 2 officers present; Ewing Park Troop 15 girls, 8 mothers, 2 officers; Bob-o-Link Troop, 25 girls, 12 mothers, 3 officers; Nightingale Troop, 22 girls, 14 mothers, and 3 officers. This was an excellent record, meaning that a large percentage of the entire Ellwood City membership of Girl Scouts was present.

Mrs. Harrison then took charge of the ceremony of awarding badges. She admonished the tenderfoot scouts that being a scout demands respect of the flag; obedience of the laws of scouting; and living up to the scout promise which is the first voluntary promise a young girl takes. She explained that the meaning of the uniform was that a girl wearing it was "trying to be prepared to help other people."

Tenderfoot badges were then awarded to twenty girls, as follows: Pearl Collins, Margery Rogers, Helen Kissick, Betty Nickum, Hazel Garwig, Inez Zeigler, Eva May Duncan Mabel Carlin, Anna Yanko, Naomi Hoelz, Eleanor Kimes, Anna Lee Brossman, Virginia McGlincey, Pearl Pifer, Beryl Boots, Delta Mae Fetterman, Grace Wright, Anna Witte, Grace Jones, Vesta Swick, Julia McLaughlin, Norma McNeill, Julia Eicholtz and Eleanor Eicholtz.

In presenting second-class badges to the thirty three girls whose earnest work had given them the privilege of receiving them, Mrs. Harrison advised them to work for the home service badge which is obtained by five hundred hours of home work for mother in whatever capacity the mother desires the assistance. "The interesting thing about scouting is that there is always something new around the corner to work for. When one once has been a scout, one never outgrows it."

Three girls were given attendance stars, Romie Nardino, Virginia Renner, and Allene Laughlin, and two girls were given merit badges, Doris Hale and Gladys Paetzel.

Four scouts were presented with patrol leaders chevrons, Helen Golden, Oleta Millson, Lillian Reynolds, Josephine Douds.

Members of Ewing Park troop won the flag presented by the community committee to the troop that had the highest percentage of scouts in line in the parade last Saturday night. Ewing Park troop had 77 per cent of their membership out.

After the meeting Miss Leoffler, Local Director of Wheeling, W. Va., gave a helpful talk to the captains and lieutenants of the troops as to some of the difficulties that arise in scout leading and how to combat them.

The mothers were urged not to forget the Girl scouts in the Community Chest Drive, and to mark upon the cards provided for the purpose, what percentage they desire to go to the Girl Scouts.

Flowers which decorated the tables were gathered for the banquet by the boy scouts.

Gertrude Zeigler Entertains Geneva Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., May 20.—Miss Gertrude Zeigler proved herself a very charming little hostess last evening when she enertained the members of the Geneva Glee club and a number of her high school friends.

After a most successful concert all adjourned to the recreation rooms of the Presbyterian church and a royal good time was enjoyed by all those fortunate enough to be present.

After an evening of games, music and other forms of enjoyment "eats" were served to 65 young folks. From all reports the Geneva singers are looking for a return engagement in Ellwood City.

Local Kiwanis Club Sponser Senior Play

ELLWOOD CITY, May 20.—A regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club was held last evening in the dining room of the Methodist church. There were no special features. The club has decided to sponsor the Senior class play this spring, looking after the advertising end and making every effort to see that the play goes over big. The play will be held in the Liberty theater and will be continued for two nights. Heretofore class plays have only been "one-night stands", with every seat taken, so that the Kiwanians feel that with a bit more publicity the affair should be a decided success. Plans were perfected to make this event one of the most outstanding features of the closing year.

Former Residents In Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, May 20.—Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison, accompanied by their two daughters, Ormal and Pearl, have returned to Indiana Harbor, Indiana, after a week's visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. FILLED POCKETS WITH DOLLARS AND HEART WITH HAPPINESS

Commercial Traveler Who Knocked Out a Bad Case of Catarrh of Stomach

Story of How He Saved His Job and Won Prosperity Through the World's Tonic

"I was on the verge of losing my job on account of my sickness when I began the use of World's Tonic over a year ago. I want you to know that this past season has been the most succesful I have ever had. I feel that I owe much of my prosperity and good health to the World's Tonic, and I am here to tell you so."

This frank statement as pleasing as a tuneful overture, was like music in the ears of the World's Tonic representative.

A traveling man from a large city concern of national reputation, came to the World Tonic man many months ago seeking to escape the clutches of Catarrh of the Stomach, which gripped him like a vise. A few weeks' use of World Tonic and he went back to the road, declaring he was stronger than ever before.

Recently he was in New Castle and it was during a call of appreciation that he gave World's Tonic credit for his happiness during the last twelve months. He says:

"When I called on a merchant I did not have strength enough to show my samples as I should. My sales fell off very rapidly and the house had another man picked to take my place. It was at this time I found World's Tonic. It has been a blessing to me and has put dollars in my pocket. I was troubled with my stomach and had used all kinds of stomach medicines without results. I was finally told I had cancer of the stomach. My arms and legs ached and I could hardly get through a day's work. Gas formed on my stomach after each meal and I had a bad taste in my mouth at all times. Upon arising each morning I would spit up handsful of mucus. If I stooped over and got up quickly dark spots would float before my eyes and at times I was so dizzy I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. My tongue was always coated and my breath heavy. My wife often told me it smelled like a garbage can. My head was stopped up and I caught cold easily. Nothing I used seemed to reach the spot until I began to use World's Tonic. From the first bottle I began to show improvement. World's Tonic certainly did the work for me. I am on the job every day. I don't have any more trouble with my stomach and can eat anything I want. My head is clear and I haven't had a cold this winter."

'If you suffer from any form of Catarrh, see the World's Tonic druggist. Sold by McKee's, Eckerd's, Paisley's, Smith's drug stores and all other reliable druggists.

Oldest Citizens Of Cambridge Springs Honored Today

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 20.—George B. Humes of Cambridge Springs was resented with a gold-headed cane by the citizens of that community in special presentation ceremonies at the Cambridge Springs M. E. church today.

Mr. Humes is the oldest resident of the neighboring town, havin gobserved his 90th birthday on March 13 last. It is the custom in many cities throughout the country to present their oldest citizen with some honorary token such as this, and Cambridge Springs has adopted the plan, with Mr. Humes to be the initial recipient. The plan, it is said, was originally suggested by Ralph Barnette of Meadville, and many persons throughout this section of Crawford county have contributed to the fund to purchase the cane.

McGinnis (buried in cave-in)—Blazes, man, be careful how you handle that shovel! You hit my leg twice.

McCarty—Say, if you can do this any better, come up here and dig yourself out.

Rev. Olin J. Gary, brother of the president of the great United States Steel Corporation, has spent his life as a small town preacher and evangelist.

Vienna Workers Offer Blood To Save Companions

(International News Service)

VIENNA, May 20.—A blood transfusion fraternity has been organized by Vienna workmen, to save the lives of fellow workers in emergencies.

Members of this fraternity have enlisted for an alarm service and can be reached any time to be rushed to the place where a blood transfusion has became necessary to save a worker's life. The members have been examined with a view to determine the group of globules their blood belongs to, for it has been ascertained that transfusions have an effect only if the blood giving person has the same sort of globules as the patient.

In Vienna alone several hundred patients have been saved by blood transfusions. The new fraternity aims at making transfusions more effective by organizing the quickest possible help.

Seek Treasures Buried In Ocean

(International News Service)

ROCHFORT, France, May 20.—Treasures of gold, silver and precious jewels, former property of the Count de St. Paul, sunk in the Atlantic off the coast of Olaron Island in 1820 may yet be brought to light. Efforts are to be made soon to bring to the surface the three masted "Jeune Henri" in which the treasure is stored.

One of the lords of the Vendee, Count de St. Paul fled to America at the time of the French revolution. He amassed a fortune and sailed back for France in 1820 to share his fortune with other members of the St. Paul family who had remained in France.

The "Jeune Henri" which he chartered for the trip, went on the rocks near the Olaron Island on December 8, 1920. Previous efforts to rescue the treasure have failed.

Erie Banker New Head Of Group

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 20.—A. E. Keim, cashier of the Second National Bank of Erie, today is the new chairman of group seven of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association. Keim was elected last night at the association's annual meeting at Conneaut Lake Park, near here, with 500 bankers in attendance.

Rev. R. C. Petty of Pittsburgh addressed the financiers on "The Fine Art of Thinking". Judge William M. Parker of Venango county also spoke.

Other officers elected are: F. W. Sapper, president of the bank of Wesleyville, vice chairman; R. D. Gaskill, secretary of the Crawford County Trust Company at Meadville, secretary-treasurer; R. J. Hopkins, treasurer, Titusville Trust Company, member of state council.

Remains Of Hugo Moved To Pantheon

(International News Service)

PARIS, May 20.—After resting for almost 42 years in a dark crypt of the Pantheon, the remains of Victor Hugo are to be transferred to a resting place more worthy of the most illustrious of French poets, under the cupola of the Pantheon.

Authorities promised seventeen years ago to make the transfer. Minister of Public Instruction Herriot, is said to have approved the transfer now.

Victor Hugo's grandchildren, Georges and Jeanne, threaten unless the transfer is actually carried out, to transfer the remains to Pere Lachaise cemetery. They claim that under the present circumstances guides are too anxious to demonstrate the echo of the Pantheon crypt to visitors to bother to show them the tomb of Victor Hugo.

Super-Power In Radio Stations Is Future Plan

Problem Of Interference Being Studied For Fixing Limitations

National Commission Will Lend Sympathetic Ear To High Power Applicants

By ROBERT S. THORNBURG.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON May 20—In the general establishment of super-power broadcasting stations H. A. Bellows of the Federal Radio commission sees one of the important developments in radio of the future.

"Broadcasting stations of the future—and this is not very far off— must have high power in order to deliver the goods" Bellows said.

The listener is demanding quality of service and good results. Our investigations have shown that the station operating on 50 kilowatts or even higher does not cause much more interference than the 5 kilowatt station."

While the 5 kilowatt station marks the maximum of interference according to the technical investigation of broadcasting it does not attain the maximum of service which is found in power ranging about 50 kilowatts.

Highest Power.

Bellows said that there is discussion at the present time of a 100 kilowatt station that would be the most powerful in the world in the field of broadcasting. WGY, of Schnectdy, at present holds a license authorizing the use of 56 kilowatts and is the country's strongest station.

The Radio Commission it was explained will lend a sympathetic ear to applicants who are seeking high power. However such applicants must be well financially backed so that they will be able to procure a high class apparatus and employ sufficiently expert engineering talent to assure the proper operation of the station.

Bellows said that a high power station using poor equipment and badly operated would prove a big impediment to radio reception.

"There has been set no arbitrary limitation on the power which broadcasting stations may use" Bellows said. "Stations must have their transmitters well removed from populace centers although the studios may be located within cities as is that of WJZ, for instance, with studios in New York and a powerful transmitter at Bound Brook, N. J.

Study Interference.

Bellows said that a 500 watt station in the center of a large city will cause more serious interference than a 50 kilowatt station 20 or 30 miles removed from the city.

This principle has been taken into consideration in the effort to improve radio conditions in New York and Chicago. In both cities stations which desired to maintain their transmitting sets within the cities were required to reduce power or refused permission to make increases.

Commissioners said that there is a general demand among the broadcasting stations for permission to increase power and hence the effective range of the stations.

University College, London, which has just celebrated its centennial, was the first British Uuiversity founded by men to admit women students

To Ask Bids For Hauling Pupils To New School House

Will Require Five Or Six Busses To Transport Shenango Township Pupils

Shenango township school board will ask bids soon for the transportation of pupils next winter to the new centralized school building which is fast nearing completion. It is expected that it will require five or six busses to transport the pupils.

Painters are now at work finishing the inside of the new building which contains 21 rooms. As soon as this is completed linoleum will be laid on the class room floors. The floors are concrete and when covered with linoleum will be practically noiseless.

The board is planning to use all the seats that are in good condition in the various school houses which are to be abandoned. Many of these seats have only been in use a year or two and are in good shape.

The school houses which are being abandoned will be sold and the proceeds applied on the new building.

When completed the new building will be the second largest in the state, housing both grade and high schools.

Labor Men Would Cancel War Debts

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 20—Declaring that the war debts constitute a menace to the industrial machinery of the United States, and therefore a menace to American workmen, Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, in an editorial in the current edition of the American Photo Engraver, advocates reduction if not flat cancellation, of the war debts.

"Will these debts ever be paid?" he asks. "Can these debts ever be paid? How shall they be paid and by whom? And what will follow failure to pay or their outright repudiation?

"To meet these staggering obligations", Woll said, "America must import more than it exports by over $2,000,000,000 a year. And this unfavorable balance of trade must continue over a prolonged and indefinite period of time.

"Our industrialists, in charge of an evergrowing productive machine that must obtain ever more and greater outlets for surplus production are fearful of an invasion of our home markets and a consequent disruption, if not destruction, of our gigantic production machine.

United States And Great Britain Even On War Claim Issue

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 20.—The United States and Great Britain have exchanged notes effecting a complete settlement of war claims, it was announced today.

The settlement provides for no cash payments, the claims almost equally cancelling, it is understood.

Father Sues For Damages As Teacher Slanders Daughter

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., May 20.—A report card, issued at Rothsville, Pa., high school, near here, today was the basis of a $2,500 damage suit filed against P. R. Haeserle, principal, by the father of Alverta Kissinger, a student.

The father alleges the girl's reputation was injured when the card was issued with a notation reflecting upon the girl's honesty in a French examination.

Back From Florida On Business Trip

Charles Bryan, who has been spending the winter at Orlando, Fla., has returned home on a business trip. Mr. Bryan has purchased a home in Orlando, where he has been engaged in the real estate business. The days of inflated values in Florida are over, he says, but in most of the cities there is a healthy growth at prices which are becoming stabilized as to values.

WHAT PRICE GLORY?

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 20.—The war will never end for Walter Wolcott, a veteran of the One Hundred and Twelfth Infantry of the Keystone division, who was wounded in the Argonne campaign, and is soon to undergo his fifteenth operation for the extraction of more shrapnel.

Philadelphia Is Scene Of Furious Gangster Warfare

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 20.—Gangdom's guns blazed early today as two machines speeded through the streets of the Central-City section, keeping up a steady exchange of shots. Police have notified hospitals and physicians to detain all persons applying for treatment for gun shot wounds.

The battle, police say, was one of the most furious in underworld history here. More than 15 men participated in it, according to witnesses.

Political Summer Nears For Lawrence County

With a host of political offices to fill this year, the summer of 1927 promises to be a "Political Summer" with all the candidates making hay while the sun shines.

Lawrence County will have a lot of selection to make this year. First of all a new judge will be elected. Along with the new judge will be a county treasurer, three county commissioners, three county auditors, a mayor, two councilmen, four school directors, a city treasurer, a city controller and a number of ward offices.

There is no major change in the political calendar this year, but because the average citizen does not carry the dates of registration, primaries, and election in his head, the complete political calendar is carried below:

Wednesday, June 22, is the first date on the political calendar for Pennsylvania political workers to remember.

It is the first day on which signatures may legally be placed on petitions for nominations for judgeships.

The most important dates on the calendar are September 20, date of the fall primary, and November 8, the date of the election of county and municipal officials.

Only one change in the election calendar was made by laws passed by the 1927 Legislature.

That change advances the last day for filing petitions for nominations with the County Commissioners from four to five weeks before the primary election.

The change brings the last day for such petitions on August 16 instead of Aug 23.

The only petitions which will be filed with the Secretary of Commonwealth this year are for nomination of judges.

These petitions will include the judges of all courts required to be "learned in the law," and also the associate judges in districts containing more than one county.

Monday, August 1, last day for filing petitions with Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Monday, August 8, last day when candidates for judicial office may withdraw before the primary.

Thursday, June 14, first day to secure signatures on petitions to be filed with the County Commissioners.

Tuesday, August 16, last day for filing petitions with the County Commissioners for party officers.

Tuesday, August 23, last day when candidates for county and municipal office may withdraw before the primary.

Friday, September 9, last day for filing nomination papers by independent bodies of citizens for any office.

Monday, September 19, last day when candidates for judicial office nominated at the primary election may withdraw from nomination at the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Tuesday, October 4, last day to file nominations with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to fill vacancies caused by withdrawal of judicial candidates nominated at at primary.

Friday, October 14, last day when candidates for county and municipal offices nominated at the primary may withdraw their nominations from the County Commissioners.

Wednesday, October 19, last day to file nominations with the County Commissioners to fill vacancies caused by withdrawal of candidates for county and municipal offices nominated at the primary.

Tuesday and Wednesday, September 6 and 7 last days to be assessed for the November election. The assessors sit at polling places on these days.

Entertain Many Church Children

New Slippery Rock Presbyterian Church Has Banquet For Youngsters

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK Pa. May 20.—Did you ever see a hundred kiddies all aglow with smiles and radiant with sunshine, playing, frolicking, gamboling, dancing, skipping about in their games and enthusiastic antics like a hundred joyful lambs? Did you ever see elsewhere such grace and abandon? And did such a picture ever come to you within the staid walls of a dignified church?

Then did you ever see those twice fifty little ones stand in four long rows at the sides of two heavily laden tables while a minister said grace? Did you see them try, oh, so hard to keep their eyes closed and be good kiddies until he was through? But in spite of the fact that the prayer was very short, just a children's size prayer, those laughing eyes just would peep in order to see all the goodies awaiting them as soon as they were seated? Well, you know you wouldn't have seen any such picture if your own ayes had been closed; if you had been really good, you wouldn't have known that any of the children were naughty.

And then did you ever see those five score little mites of humanity fall too and get into action when a dozen or more of equally happy mothers and big sisters brought in plates overflowing with a half dozen times as much food as such tiny mites of kiddies should eat—and see them devour every bite of it?

Well, if you haven't seen such a picture, it would have done your calloused old heart good to have been in the new social hall of the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon and viewed the party and the dinner given to the little ones of the church. A few had seen a dozen summers; some of them only three; they were all there; and every child of them had the best time of his life.

And for two generations that new church building is going to care thus for the little ones, and give them good times, and make them know what an attractive place a church may be, even for kiddies.

It was all a part of the Loyalty campaign, which will culminate next Sunday with raising $42,000 to pay for the new building. Dr. Mitchell of Philadelphia, told the kiddies how much Mr. Wrigley of chewing gum fame had made nickels do, and he made clear to them that their nickels might well help pay for the church.

It was a great day for the local church.

"Are you sure it was a marriage license you gave me last month?"

Executives are not invited to read this but the strange thing is that they will

On page 52 of the June number of The American Magazine is an article by George A. Dorsey, who probably knows as much about human conduct and achievement as any man in the world.

He wrote the famous best seller, "Why We Act Like Human Beings."

This article tells some amazing things about the way in which a man by his own thinking can change his life.

Here's a startling statement from it: "Give me a newborn child, and in ten years I can have him so scared he'll never dare lift his voice above a whisper, or so brave that he'll fear nothing."

Here is a strange thing about such an article. You would suppose that the men who are already successful would not read it. Yet these are just the men who will read it.

Drifters, doubters, stragglers pass by such help and wonder why nothing good ever happens to them. Executives, who are already thinking in terms of achievement, welcome any scientific aid to a better, more effective use of their mental powers.

What a curious fact about human nature this is! Those who really need help most wouldn't spend a quarter for the very best help in the world. While those who apparently need nothing are the most eager for every suggestion that leads to bigger, richer LIFE.

Heinz Peanut Butter is made from a choice blend of Spanish and Virginia peanuts. After the nuts are roasted, the finest are selected. From these the bitter hearts and skins are removed. Then they are ground to a creamy butter that spreads easily and does not dry out.

New Policy On Farm Relief Is Worrying West

Jardine Proposal Laid Before Agriculturists Is Cause Of Speculation

Offer Of Government Aid For Co-Operative Movement Subject Of Debate

By JERRY QUISENBERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY May 20. — Whether the adminstration's new farm relief policy, as outlined here recently by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, is doomed to failure or is destined to success and approval is a question creating general speculation through the West.

The Jardine proposal, which was laid before the farm leaders of nine states at the International Wheat Pool Conference, represents an offer by the administration to aid agriculture through fostering the growth of the co-operative movement among American farmers. Secretary Jardine told these leaders that the administration was ready to promise legislation providing as much as $50,000,000 for this purpose, if the plan was acceptable to them.

Wheat Pools Interested

Just now, the destiny of the proposal hinges upon the decision of the directorates of nine middle-western wheat pools, which were represented by the men with whom the secretary conferred. If their decision is favorable to the administration and if the proposal is found acceptable to them, the result, in the opinion of the agricultural leaders, will be as if a wet blanket were cast upon the smouldering farm relief feud between the administration and the radical farm element, which has been threatening to flare up anew in the next session of congress.

Had it not been for the McNary-Haugen bill, which President Coolidge vetoed at the last session, the farm leaders would have accepted Secretary Jardine's proposal immediately, and been glad of the opportunity. However, their conference on the question halted in a deadlock, and thereby furnished an illuminating insight into the sentiment of the various farm belts toward the administration's new policy and into their plans for future political manuevers.

Farm leaders representing northern states and those of several other agricultural sections refused to approve the Jardine proposal on the theory that its acceptance would jeopardize the re-enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill over the President's veto, which they hope can be accomplished at the next session of congress. Some characterized it as a substitute for the vetoed farm relief measure which the administration hopes will appease these who waxed wrathful over Mr. Coolidge's action.

Opposed by Indiana

"I am sure the new policy will not be acceptable," said W. H. Settle, representing Indiana on the national wheat pool committee. "It is nothing but a compromise. The sum of money Secretary Jardine mentioned is a drop in the bucket to what is actually needed."

But the southern states, particularly Oklahoma and Texas, were inclined to favor the government offer.

So the question rests with the directorates of the nine state wheat pools represented on the national committee. Representatives of the directorates will convene to settle the matter, following the failure of the presidents of the pools to reach a decision.

The play introduced by Secretary Jardine as the administration's new farm relief policy proposed by the advancing of $25,000,000 for the building of elevators and physical properties for farmer's co-operatives and an additional amount up to $25,000,000 for operating expenses under a twenty to thrity year loan plan.

Suicides Among Turkish Women Show Increase

(International News Service)

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 20. — A large increase in the number of women suicides has taken place in Turkey since the abolition of polygamy.

In the University of Stamboul recently a conference was held on the subject of suicide and it was stated that there were six times as many suicides today as there were ten years ago.

Whilst the number of male suicides remains about the same that of women has shown a remarkable increase and is attributed to the abolition of polygamy.

Coolidge's 1928 Intentions Not Likely To Be Announced

By CHARLES P. STEWART.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Your choice of two theories is available as to President Coolidge's plan for 1928.

That he's going to run again and that he isn't going to run again?

Oh, yes, you can put it that way if you like.

That doesn't mean much though. Any dumbbell knows he must do one or the other of those two things.

At least one of the two choices I'm referring to is the kind of a choice it takes some brains to understand. It explains why the president's so reticent on the third term issue, even if he doesn't mean to run again. It makes sense.

Present indications are that Cal's going right into the 1928 convention without announcing whether he's a candidate for a renomination or not.

This certainly will be interpreted as meaning that he is.

If, up to that stage of the game, he hasn't said anything about the third term issue, it will be assumed that he considers it an issue best left alone.

Whether or not he'll be re-elected is another matter, but nobody denies that he'll be renominated if he insists.

* * *

Theory No. 2 is that he thinks his acceptance of a renomination would generally be regarded as a bid for a third term, that he's opposed to it, or doesn't believe he could get away with it, and that he doesn't intend to try.

Yet theorists in class No. 2 opine that the president will, nevertheless let the 1928 convention open up without ever having expressed himself on the subject either of his own renomination or a third term.

They predict that everything will look, up to the very last minute, as if Cal's renomination were absolutely assured.

And then——

That's theory No. 2.

* * *

But if President Coolidge doesn't intend to run to succeed himself why (you ask) doesn't he say so now, and give other candidates a chance to line up their forces?

Precisely. If he gave them the chance, that's just what they'd do. Until he gives the word, they can't.

He has his candidate all picked out.

If, however, Cal can keep everything sewed up until the very psychological moment arrives and then deliver his backing, solid, on the convention floor, to his man—

* * *

That's the choice of theories Washington's offering now.

I give 'em without prejudice. They come straight enough, but you get lots of straight tips that aren't so. Besides, they can't both be right.

Herbert Hoover's is the name you hear mentioned in connection with theory No. 2—not Frank O. Lowden's or Nick Longworth's or Chas. G. Dawes'.

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S.S.S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

New Method For Shipping Fruit Being Tried Out

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 20.—A new method of storing fruit which may eventually revolutionize the transport of fresh fruit from America to Britain is described in a report issued by the Department of Scientific Industrnal Research.

The method consists of restricting the breathing activities of the fruit by replacing by carbon dioxide part of the oxygen in the air in which it is stored. This has the effet of retarding the ripening process for a considerable period without impairing the taste of the fruit or its keeping qualities when it is again brought into a normal atmosphere.

MACHINE GUN KILLERS SOUGHT IN PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 20.—The police homicide squad combed the underworld here today for the city's first machine gun slayers, who sprayed Louis Lamendola with gunfire when he appeared in the doorway of his restaurant in the hill district.

It was the first appearance of machine gun killers in Pittsburgh, but the assassins were not novices, police said. In a heavily curtained touring car the killers rolled up to the door of Lamendolas' place late last night.

As Lamendola answered a summons the nose of a machine gun parted the automobile curtain and he fell dead with three bullets in his head. Peter Cuurato, a friend of the slain man, barely escaped being hit by the spray.

As the murderers drove away their steady gunfire came within inches of Estella Vessotsky, violinist in a nearby cafe. Patrolmen, attracted to the scene by the shooting, returned the fire, but the assassins escaped without leaving a clue to their identity.

While police sought the slayers, they also questioned Lamendola's friends with a view to establishing the motive. Police believe the gunmen were imported.

86,000 POUNDS OF WOOL IN COUNTY

MERCER, Pa., May 19.—The Mercer County Wool Growers Association is making ready for the opening of its recently purchased wool house in Cherry Alley here.

It is said that the start on the gathering of the county wool pool will be about the middle of June, dates not definitely set yet.

The present month is the annual sheep-shearing time and regardless of weather the "woolies" are being denuded as fast as the owners can get to it.

Appointment of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, now Assistant Attorney General of the United States to the Federal court vacancy in California, is understood to be under consideration by President Coolidge. Since her appointment to her present position in 1921 Mrs. Willebrandt has been in charge of prohibition cases in the Department of Justice and has made an excellent record for efficiency. A native of Kansas, a graduate of the Arizona Normal School and holder of the degrees of bachelor of laws and master of laws from the University of Southern California, she was first a teacher in the public schools of Michigan, and later principal of a school at South Pasadena, Calif. Following her admission to the California bar and a period of practice in Los Angeles, she appeared in approximately 2,000 cases as "public defender for women."

Stanford's Cut Of Freshies And Sophs Bring Worry To Athletes

(International News Service)

PALO ALTO, Cal., May 20.—Leland Stanford, Jr., University proposes to eliminate its freshman and sophomore classes.

Students in the university therefore will be juniors, seniors graduates.

This plan has aroused great interest, not only because it is an important educational innovation, but also because it is believed to have a vital bearing upon Stanford's athletic prestage.

Peak of Sports

Stanford has now reached the peak of collegiate sports. Her football teams, coached by Glenn "Pop" Warner, have made splendid records the past several years. The 1926 team went through the season without a defeat and tied with Alabama for the national title.

In track and field, Stanford also is represented by the strongest team in the country. Her athletes, runners-up in national competition last year, are expected to win the I. C. A. A. A. A. track championship at Philadelphia this summer.

The suggestion, therefore, that the junior division be eliminated has greatly concerned Stanford students and alumni and has prompted general speculation as to its effect upon Cardinal athletic teams.

Warner Is Dubious

"Pop" Warner is rather dubious about the change. The greatest obstacle, as he sees it, is the fact that football men will not have the benefit of preliminary work on the freshman squad.

While the students will be older, and, therefore, better trained, Warner pointed to the fact that they will lack one year's schooling in the Stanford system; that they may have to unlearn much of the technique they have acquired in prep schools and junior colleges.

Coach "Dink" Templeton, the track and field tutor, is not so pessimistic. He believes that, with revised eligibility rules, Stanford can continue to recruit championship teams. It will be necessary, however, to make graduate students eligible to one year of competition, he believes, as otherwise a Stanford athletic would be curtailed to only two year—his junior and senior semesters.

Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the university and sponsor of the proposed elimination of the junior division, revealed that, willy-nilly, the change was about to be made.

"It's too late now to worry about it or to get excited," the Stanford executive said. "The train's already gone by. It's all settled."

New Publication Makes Appearance

"The Westminstrel" Is Issued By Students Of Westminster College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—Westminster's newest student publication, "The Westminstrel", made its appearance on the campus Thursday, and according to the business staff of the magazine circulation reached the highest expectations.

The magazine is a 32-page affair and is elaborately finished. It contains literary thesis, a synopsis of the May pageant to be presented May 28, a play entitled "Hamlet", by Doug Anderson, editor, and Will Shakespeare, and much humorous material.

It is a May Day issue and is dedicated to Professor R. X. Graham, a member of the English faculty of the college and teacher of journalism, who has been very active in fostering student publications in the past two years.

Credit for the publication, which early received the commendation of the faculty, goes to Douglas Anderson of Philadelphia, editor; Wilbur Baldinger of Butler, associate editor; Paul Gibson of New Kensington, circulation manager, and R. Graham Fithian of Butler, business manager.

Other contributors to the magazine are: James McQuiston of Cochranton, Clare Swisher of Mahoningtown, John Trevaskus of Turtle Creek, William Robertson of New Wilmington, Miss Muriel Irons of Coraopolis, Miss Eleanor Graham of Pittsburgh, Miss Elizabeth Edeburn of Sharon, Wilson Botsford of Pittsburgh, Robert McAlister of Pittsburgh and Miss Elizabeth Glover of New Castle.

When the idea of the magazine was conceived by the sponsors it was planned to publish it three times each year if successful. Judging by its reception Thursday, the literary publication will be a permanent student organ in the future.

CHRYSLER BREAKS RECORDS TO GET REPORTERS BIG STORY

Tornado-Stricken Texas Town Gives Automobile Another Chance to Demonstrate Its Unique Powers

Out of the wreck and desolation left in the wake of the tornadoes which played havoc over the state of Texas this spring comes one of those stories of ready and courageous response to the call of duty which make up the proud traditions of the newspaper profession but are accepted by their participants as only part of the day's work and are forgotten in the absorption of the next day's assignments.

About 8:30 one night in mid-April came to the San Antonio newspaper offices a message that thrilled its staff with the electric tingle known to every newspaper man as the breaking of a big story.

Away to the west, out on the sheep-raising plains of the Nueces river's headwaters, a giant twister had turned the town of Rock Springs into a shambles. The telephone operator, who had stumbled a mile out into the darkness to find a wire with unbroken connection to the outside world, whispered a tale of dire destruction and death. Only four or five buildings were left standing in the town. Of the population so many were dead, injured or missing that no one knew how many survivors there were. Instant aid was imperative.

To notify the civil and military authorities was the work of a moment, but how to reach the stricken town was a problem. Rock Springs was in an isolated region. Its nearest railroad point was 75 miles away, down at Uvarde Junction. The closest army post was another 75 miles away. Cavalry would be dispatched, and relief crews would be sent as soon as posible, it was promised, but many hours must elapse before aid could reach the stricken community.

Meanwhile there remained the newspaper's first duty of getting the news of the disaster. Once more the automobile proved its right to its foremost place in modern civilization. A hurried call to the Guarantee Motor Car Company, the Chrysler distributors at San Antonio, and a Chrysler "60" touring car was outside the door of the Evening News offices in a few minutes. Two reporters leaped into it, and a run was started that stands as a record in the automobile history of western Texas.

Maintaining an average speed of 52.6 miles an hour, in less than three hours the party put the 150 miles behind them and long before soldiers or civilian relief agencies could arrive on the scene the reporters had done their work, the world was told of the calamity that had leveled the Texas plateau town to the ground and such help as the reporters could give the stricken sufferers was being given.

"It was really a very good demonstration of what a Chrysler can do," said O. A. Wilson, sales manager of the Guarantee Motor Car Company, "but the most impressive part of the affair to my mind came after we got back. Immediately after our return we took that very car out to demonstrate to several prospective patrons, and it went thru its paces without a flutter. We did not make a single mechanical adjustment. We didn't as much as wash off the mud and dirt. All it needed was to change the motor oil and it was ready for business."

The Chambers Motor Co., 426 Croton Avenue, are local dealers for Chrysler automobiles.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

ONCE A FOE, NEVER A FRIEND

"It does seem a shame that all those big creatures should pick on a little thing like you," declared the Boy indignantly. "I wonder why they do it, Mouse? You can't hurt them!"

"No," said Mother Mouse, "I can't hurt them, but I can make them all awfully mad, and I do it every chance I get. I steal their food right from under their noses. It is the only way I have of paying them back for being so mean to me, though. Eeeee! Who is that huge creature on the other side of the meadow?

Jamie looked over his shoulder. Then he laughed.

Why, that is Cutie Fox and he is looking for you. He will be cross when he hears how easily I found you—without a bit of trouble. He has spent a lot of time and energy sniffing around for you. I guess I will call to him and tell him you are here. Good Gracious! Why are you shivering like that?"

"Because I am afraid. Two-Legs," answered Mother Mouse. "I don't trust Fox. He is one of my enemies. I have to watch my step every minute when he is abroad. He is so clever that it takes most of my time trying to think up ways of keeping out of his paws. Don't call him over, please don't."

"But he came into the meadow on purpose to warn you of the Weasel!" protested the Boy.

"What was he going to tell me to do?" asked Mother Mouse.

"He was going to tell you to scatter to the four corners of the field, so that when Weasel got here he would find you all gone and not know in which direction to turn to look for you," answered the Boy.

"Tee hee! Cutie Fox deserves his name, all right, all right," giggled Mother Mouse, nervously. "Weasel might not know where we had gone, but Fox would, and he would have a fine time rounding us up, one after another, from all four corners. And what is to prevent him telling Weasel all about it when he makes up with the fellow—for, of course, Fox would not be warning me at all unless he was mad at old ferret-nose. No, sir, you have warned me and that is enough. Once a foe, always a foe—never a friend. I wouldn't trust Fox if he swore by the end of his bushy tail. No sir. You have have warned me and that is enough. I shall call the children and we will scamper away before he gets here. I know a fine hiding place, were he will not think of looking. But promise me one thing!" Mother Mouse looked up pleadingly at the Boy.

"Of course I will. What is it?" asked Peter.

"Don't tell Fox which way I went. That is all I ask. Just don't tell him which way I went."

Mrs. Mouse was trying to be very brave, indeed, but she could see Fox sniffing his way nearer and nearer, and she became more frightened by the second, and she trembled as she waited for the Boy's promise.

"Of course I will not tell him if you don't wish me to," said he. "What do you think I am! But hurry up and do something if you are going to. Fox will soon be here."

NEW CASTLE TO PLAY ERIE HERE SATURDAY

Lake City Has Strong Outfit

Three Former New Castle Players With Erie Sailors This Year

MEIS TO TWIRL FOR NEW CASTLE

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Strengthened by the addition of three former New Castle players in their lineup, the Erie Sailors will appear at Centennial Field Saturday afternoon, to battle New Castle in an O. & P. League attraction. The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock daylight savings time.

The Lake City team will bring a strong team to New Castle tomorrow afternoon. The boys who cavort in the gentle breezes of Lake Erie are said to possess a real aggregation this season, and they are bent on taking the measure of the locals. Erie has long been noted for good baseball teams, but the club that Ed Hiler has gathered this year has a shade on the former teams.

Three players will appear here in Erie uniforms who are well known known to New Castle baseball fans, they are Gerald Earl, Frank "Jewie" Coen, and Hollis Cannon. Gerald Earl is known to the Lawrence County League followers as one of the best outfielders and hitters in the popular loop, and his playing with the Erie team this year has been above the average. Coen is a former hurler and aided the local O. & P. team in their fight for the league title last year. Hollis Cannon a pitcher and outfielder was with the New Castle team for the first half of the season in 1926.

Earl Batting Third

Erie thinks so well of the former Lawrence County League boy that they have placed him third in the batting order, together with Mannix, and Clark, Earl is patroling the outer pastures and, according to the early games is a fixture with the Sailors. Cannon and Coen have taken their turns on the mound along with Sykes and Heffernan.

Just who will pitch here Saturday for the Erie team is not known, but it is likely that either Coen or Cannon will draw the assignment. Jocko Munch, former Oil City catcher in the Two-Team League, is manager of the Sailors this year and is doing the backstop duty.

Manager Carl "Molly" Meis has not let it be known just who will take the mound for New Castle tomorrow afternoon. There is a strong possibility that Meis himself will pitch the game and then again the pitching assignment may fall upon Mark Jamieson, former Ellwood City hurler. Jamieson turned in some fine pitching against the Homestead Grays last week, but his support faltered. Jamieson has a fast breaking curve ball that is a real "fooler" to the opposing batsmen.

Brehanney At Third

The game tomorrow afternoon will be the first that the revamped New Castle team has played here for a week. Brehanney will be here to cover the third station on the infield and his presence should bolster up the inner works. "Bunny" Swartz the rookie sent here by Cincinnati is rarin' to go and how that boy can go. Swartz is about the finest looking infielder that ever donned a New Castle uniform and his presence on the right side of the defense adds plenty to the effectiveness of the infield. Maxim will make his debut to the local patrons at shortstop, and Lawrence, the Toledo youth will patrol the territory around second-base.

While New Castle is entertaining the Sailors, the O. & P. teams will be playing as follows: Youngstown at Massillon; Butler at Beaver Falls; and Cleveland at Canton.

New Castle	Erie
Swartz, 1.	Mannix, rf.
Lawrence, 2.	Stout, ss.
Weimer, lf.	Earl, cf.
McCullough, rf.	Clark, lf.
General, cf.	Moske, 1.

Benefit Ball Game Postponed

Baseball officials in charge of the Police-Garbage departments benefit game at Centennial field Friday afternoon today postponed the setto until next week on account of rain having made Centennial field a sea of mud. It would be impossible to stage a baseball game and automobiles would have difficulty in the parking ground. Ticket holders should retain their pasteboards.

Pitching Duel Between Ellsworth And Mehalic Is Victory For Latter

The Model Bakers defeated, the Polish A. A. team 2 to 0, in a six inning game played on the American Can works ground on Thursday night. The game was a pitchers battle between Mehalic and Ellsworth.

Each pitcher allowed but four hits. Mehalic was the more effective of the two with twelve strikeouts. The Bakers scored their victory in the fifth inning by chasing over two runs.

Pitt Tennis Team Meets Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—If idleness will prepare a tennis team for an important engagement, then the Westminster squad is ready for the tilt with the University of Pittsburgh, Saturday afternoon, on the Westminster courts.

The squad has not been on the courts thus far this week. Rain has made play impossible and made it necessary that Captain McDowell and mates merely sit back and mark time.

Pitt will be one of the country's best squads here. Byron Baur, of Erie, singles champion of Western Pennsylvania, is captain of the quartet. O'Laughlin is the second ace.

James J. Corbett never fought for as large a purse after becoming champion as he did in the bout when he won his title from John L. Sullivan at New Orleans in 1892. The purse and stake in the Sullivan-Corbett match totalled $40,000.

A large majority of old-time fight fans contend that Joe Gans was the greatest lightweight that ever held the title.

New Castle Team "Dolled" For Summer

J. Pluv' May Depart And Permit Four Ball Games

Lawrence County Loop Contests Have Been Blocked By Rain

ANNOUNCE SATURDAY UMPIRE ASSIGNMENTS

J. Pluv', pesky old rain-maker, is doing his utmost to cut the legs from beneath the Lawrence County Baseball loop and as a result fans of New Castle and other towns in Lawrence county are almost as blue as a wash-tub on Monday. In fact should the old chap not soon make himself conspicuous by his absence baseball players will need canoes, paddles and rubber balls to keep themselves in practice.

It rained last Saturday, Wednesday and as this is being typed there is little room to lodge faith in that ol' song, "It ain't gonna rain no more." It it doesn't rain there are 100 players, eight managers and thousands of fans who will breathe a sigh of relief—and persons who earn a livelihood from the profit on the sale of baseball equipment will dance a la Du Bell.

Somehow the Lawrence County loop has been smitten upon the nasal propensity more than once this season and as everything trots in circles the time is growing for the worm to do the military about-face. Coaltown failed to get started and the teams that did line up and play turned in big tallies for the first game but better tilts in their second appearance.

However, be all this as it is, the fact remains thta there are four games scheduled for Saturday in various parts of the county and should the weather this evening permit the teams will hold practices in anticipation of crawling up the standing with victories. At the present time the race for the pennant is an even race with fans waiting for some organization in the circuit to show its superiority.

The schedule for Saturday and umpires assigned for duty follow:

Neshannocks vs. Ellwood City, at Ellwood City; McCormick and McCann.

Croton vs. Energy, at Energy; Diana and Kroesen.

Pennsy vs. Independents at Scotland Lane; McCarthy and Patterson.

Many Games Are Postponed Due To Rain-Wet Grounds

The intermittent rains of the past few days made baseball playing last night an utter impossibility for several local teams.

The Twilight League games with the exception of the Edenburg-Troop B game were all postponed, and the entire list in the New Castle Church League were called off.

Lindstrom May Be Out Of Lineup For Remainder Of Year

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 20.—Freddy Lindstrom, brilliant young third baseman, may be kept out of the Giants' line-up indefinitely because of an injury to his back, it was learned today. A bone has been chipped off his vertebrae, and the injury has been blamed for Lindstrom's recent batting slump.

Church League Games Tonight

Two fast games are on tap in the New Castle Church League for tonight, providing of course the rain is over. The games will start at 6:30 o'clock, daylight savings time. time.

The First Methodist team will battle the Third U. P. boys on Colonial Field, and the First Baptist aggregation will tussle with the Central Christians at the Lehigh Field.

Geneva To Be Scene Of Track, Field Meet

Westminster's Dirt Track Affected By Several Days' Rainfall

GENEVA'S CINDER TRACK UNAFFECTED

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 20.—A last minute shift caused by the constant rains, dictates that the Westminster-Geneva track and field meet scheduled for Saturday afternoon, will be held in the Geneva stadium at Beaver Falls. The meet was to be held at New Wilmington. However, the Westminster track is a dirt affair and could not possibly be placed in good condition as early as Saturday. The Covenantors have a cinder path which is not affected by water.

Members of the Westminster squad, especially the distance runners, feel that the shift has given them a bad break. The Geneva track is a fifth of a mile in length whereas Westminster's is a quarter. The distance men feel that there is a psychological something which makes them feel that when they have raced around the oval four times they have stepped a mile whereas another lap still remains. A mile is a mile without argument, but there seems to be something wrong when the laps are only a fifth of a mile in length.

The squad has been able to accomplish little this week. The distance men used the country roads Thursday after being idle Wednesday. The dash men were given a few starts as it was impossible to use the complete dash lanes.

Coach Coleman expects to take about 20 men to the down-valley school. The trip will be made early Saturday morning.

AMATEUR NOTES

The Wampum Hot Dogs, a newly organized baseball team, would like to book games with all fast junior teams in the county. Games are especially wanted with Twilight League teams. The Hot Dogs are a uniformed team and would like to play other uniformed teams. For games with the Hot Dogs write to James Ferrante, Box 473, Wampum, or call 9008 between 5:30 and 6:30 o'clock.

The Mack Tires defeated the Olympics 6 to 2, in a game played on Thursday night. DiMuccio on the mound for the Tires pitched a fine brand of baseball and didn't permit a hit off his delivery.

The New Castle Cubs defeated the Houser-Kennedy outfit, 12 to 6, in a game played on the Cascade Park grounds. Hook on the hill for the winners allowed but four hits and fanned seven batters. The Cubs got to Hannon for ten hits. H. Gray featured the game with a home run.

The North Highland team would like to book games with the Lawrence Indies or Troop B, or any other fast Twilight team. For games call 3827-M, and ask for Peck, or call 2238-M and ask for Kenneth.

The Troop B team of the Twilight League would like to arrange games with all fast independent teams in the city and county. For games call 5332 tonight, between 6:30 and 8 o'clock.

New Castle Ready To Meet World's Champs In Exhibition Contest

Manager "Bob" O'Farrell will lead the St. Louis Cardinals, World's Champions into New Castle about noon on Monday. At 4:30 o'clock daylight savings time the New Castle O. &P. team will battle the Red Birds in an exhibition contest.

New Castle fans are eagerly awaiting the game. It will mark the first appearance in New Castle of Frankie Frisch, Manager O'Farrell, Alexander and Jimmy Ring. The local fans ever since the close of the World's Series last fall have been hankering to get a peak at Alexander the Great the man who did not fear Babe Ruth, and the veteran who made the Yankee sluggers look like schoolboys.

The fans here are also anxious to cast their eyes upon young Tommy Thevenow the sensational shortstop, who won his way into the hearts of millions of fans in the classic last year by his super-natural work in the short field. It will be recalled that Thevenow was the main cog in the Cards defense last summer. The work of Thevenow in the World's Series has remained in the minds of the fans.

Reinhart or Johnson

Billy Southworth former New York Giant and Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder will be with the Cardinals here on Monday. Southworth was not with the Cards there last time here. Then the old favorites Jim Bottomley, Lester Bell, Douthit, Holm and Torporcer will be with the St. Louis team in their trip to New Castle.

Just who will pitch against the Cardinals here Monday Manager Meis would not say today, but there is every indication to believe that "Molly" himself will take the assignment.

Manager O'Farrell will likely send Reinhart or Johnson to the mound here. Both pitchers have been used for relief purposes this year and they are ready for work. New Castle fans have expressed a desire to watch Alexander at work on the rubber and it may be that Manager O'Farrell can be prevailed to use Alexander for just one or two innings.

The game is to be played at Centennial Field, and in the event of good weather the old ball orchard should be rather well populated for the occasion.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Rain played havoc with National League teams yesterday, not one game being played. J. Pluv' also forced a postponement until tonight of the Maloney-Sharkey fight and the game here between the Police and Garbage collectors has been set back until next week.

Beaver county schools will compete in a track and field meet at Reeves field, Geneva college, and according to reports from Geneva early today the Westminster-Geneva college meet will also be held Saturday instead of Beaver Falls instead of New Wilmington on account of ground conditions.

Princeton and Ohio State are planning a non-scouting agreement in connection with their football game at Columbus in 1928, it was disclosed by Dr. J. W. Wilce, Ohio State coach today. "A mutual agreement not to scout is the logical high fround for college football" Wilce said today.

Kid Cangie, local lightweight, will depart early this morning for Erie where he fights Jackie Brady tonight. The battler will get into the ring about 10 o'clock tonight. It is reported that George Perotta, who left town some weeks ago, is training at Erie, for a come-back. He is said to be following the straight and narrow route.

George McLaren, perhaps the greatest fullback in the history of Pitt and western Pennsylvania football will leave Cincinnati U. and pilot the University of Wyoming grid team, it is reported. He will succeed "Lone Star" Dietz, former Carlisle Indian school athlete.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Jack Bentley, the southpaw with the corkscrew windup, has been released to the Newark club of the International League, the Giants' new farm. Hailed as one of the greatest pitchers ever developed in the minors, and reputed to be a home run hitter to boot, Bentley came to the Giants from Baltimore, but never became a star. He was sold to the Phillies, but returned to the Giants this season.

Maloney-Sharkey To Battle Tonight At Yankee Stadium

Heavyweight Bout Postponed From Thursday Night, Due To Rain

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, May 20.—Give us a chord Professor Tra-Da-Da!

All right now, here they are again; just as good as ever, which isn't as bad as it sounds. The same principals, the same scene, the same distance, promoter and crowd. Merely a different evening. Everything else is the same, folks, but the evening must be different or your money back provided you catch us—and we have it.

For it rained real rain all over the Jimmy Maloney-Jack Sharkey heavyweight elimination extravaganza at the Yankee stadium last night and the boys simply couldn't go for an airing as scheduled. But tonight is another night and so the twice told tale goes into its second edition with the following synopsis:

The time and place: Tonight at the Yankee stadium.

Sharkey Favored.

The winner: Jack Sharkey for my money; yes the whole dollar, twenty-nine.

For Sharkey seems to the writer to be a slightly sounder bet because of the postponement. In the first place, his cut eyelid has had the healing ministrations of additional time. In the second, Maloney is the type of athlete who might experience greater difficulty in holding his physical edge over an extra night.

Some maintain, indeed, that Sharkey's condition will improve through the additional 24 hours, basing their contention on the notion that he had worked too hard previous to sustaining the injury to his eye. As to that, I cannot say nor can few guess the psychological result of the postponement on either man. Both appeal to the writer as being highly strung, although Maloney actually has been called stolid. I think he is about as stolid, under that calm exterior, as a buck and wing dancer.

The distance favors Sharkey, for apparently he has the stamnia of the old timer who counted 20 rounds a mere workout. Maloney never has gone above ten rounds in his life and possibly will know too little about rating his speed through the middle of the fight. Previous to the Delaney match he was supposed to have a tendency to blow up in the late rounds. That, however, was one of several things he was supposed to do that night and didn't.

Triumphs Of Youth — By Feg Murray

Glorious youth! As the former "boy wonders" and girl prodigies in sports pass on to maturity and become "has beens" at 23 or 24 ("Young" Stribling, for instance), new youngsters arrive to take their places until they, in turn, are beaten by those still younger.

It seems that just the other day Johnny Weismuller was startling the sports world by breaking the swimming records of Norman Ross and Duke Kahanamoku, and was hailed everywhere as the infant aquatic champion of all time, and now along comes George Kojac of DeWitt Clinton high school, New York, and not only beats Weissmuller in the 150-yard backstroke race at the national indoor championships, but breaks Johnny's world's record as well. Then, a week or so later, just to show it wasn't an accident, he swam an exhibition in Philadelphia and broke the world's best mark for the 220-yard backstroke event. George won't be old enough to vote for four more years, and long before that time should hold most of the records at his specialty. He is a fine free-style swimmer, too, and should help the American Olympic team materially in 1928.

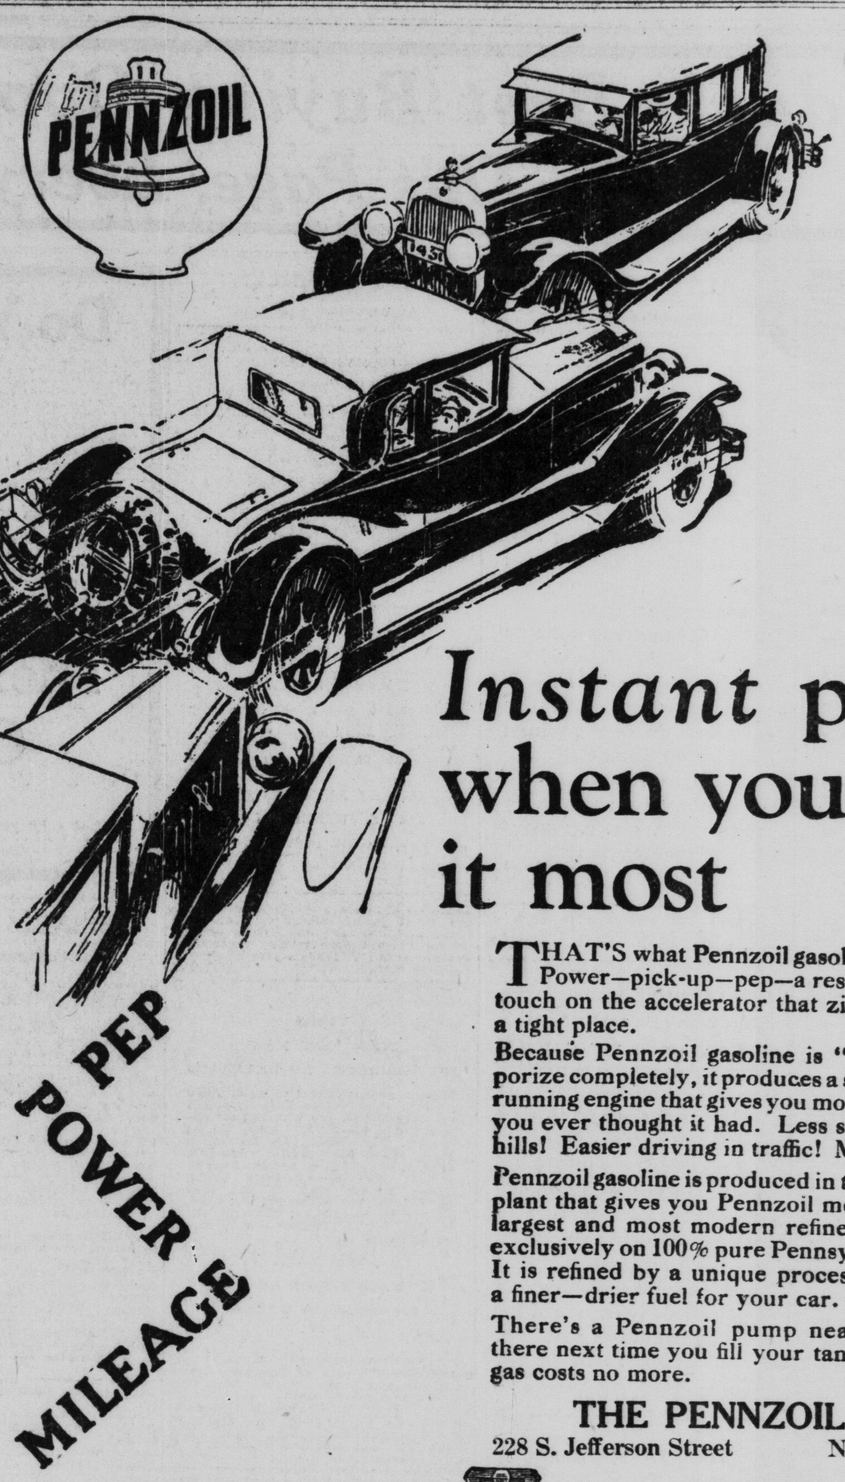
Another water-baby whose career will be watched with great interest is little Dorothy Poynton, of the Hollywood Athletic Club, who placed third in two diving events at the women's indoor national swimming championships at Buffalo last winter. She is 13 years old now, and will be about ready to win an Olympic championship next summer at Amsterdam, as Aileen Riggin did at that age at Antwerp in 1920.

Freddie Lindstrom, erstwhile baby of the New York Giants, is three years older than his teammate, Melvin Ott, who has already been called a "left-handed Hornsby" because of his faultless style at the plate. "The Infant" played his first full game of the season on April 23, made one hit, scored one run, stole one base and fielded faultlessly. He is already a great drawing card in New York.

Over in England they have a child tennis wonder who bids fair to make Helen Jacobs, 18, and Helen Wills, 21, look to their laurels. Betty Nuthall, who last year startled the critics by defeating many of her elders at Wimbledon while wearing shoulder-length curls, has now bobbed her hair, having reached the advanced age of 15. On April 30 she won the women's hard court championship of England. You'll hear more of this little miss this summer.

Feg Murray Says—

There is a lad named Edward Hamm on the George Tech track team. He ought to be a "Swift" runner.



Instant power when you want it most

THAT'S what Pennzoil gasoline gives you. Power—pick-up—pep—a response to your touch on the accelerator that zips you out of a tight place.

Because Pennzoil gasoline is "built" to vaporize completely, it produces a smooth, even-running engine that gives you more power than you ever thought it had. Less shifting on the hills! Easier driving in traffic! More mileage!

Pennzoil gasoline is produced in the same great plant that gives you Pennzoil motor oils—the largest and most modern refinery operating exclusively on 100% pure Pennsylvania crude. It is refined by a unique process that means a finer—drier fuel for your car.

There's a Pennzoil pump near you. Stop there next time you fill your tank. This finer gas costs no more.

Gehrig Crashes Another Homer

Yankee First Baseman Passes Ruth On Way To Home Run Record

WHITE SOX SCORE ANOTHER VICTORY

BY LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 20.—As the Yankees, with a seven game winning streak, continue to rip the western teams to shreds, the big gun in their attack is not Babe Ruth, but Lou Gehrig. The husky first baseman clouted his ninth home run of the season against Cleveland yesterday, tying Ruth, and also boosted his batting average to .425, the highest percentage for regulars in either league.

Gehrig also has made more hits and scored more runs than any player in either league. No other American League slugger has hit more doubles or triples. Pitchers who formerly passed Ruth to get at Gehrig are now pitching to the Babe and handing out free transportation to the former Columbia star, and Colonel Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yanks, has harrid visions of being saddled with another $70,000 contract.

Deacon Wilcey Moore, the demon pallbearer, shared honors with Gehrig yesterday. After relieving Shocker he blanked the Indians for seven innings and bunted in a run in the ninth that gave the Yanks a 4 to 3 decision.

A home run by Ken Williams in the tenth inning enabled the Browns to nose out the Red Sox, 6 to 5, after Boston tied the score with a four run rally in the ninth. Melillo got four hits. The Browns have won five of their last six games, and are tied with the Athletics for third place.

Al Thomas of the White Sox registered his sixth victory of the season in winning a 3 to 0 decision over Lefty Grove of the Athletics. Ty Cobb got two hits and has batted safely in his last nineteen games.

Although he allowed only five hits, Owen Carroll of Detroit, former king of eastern college pitchers, lost a 3 to 0 duel to Hollis Thurston of Washington. Rigney's triple in the seventh broke up the game.

Twilight League Teams Battle To 1-1 Deadlock In Game On Thursday

The Edenburg and Troop B game staged on the Scotland Lane grounds on Thursday night, ended in a deadlock at 1-1. The game was halted in the sixth by rain and darkness.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Stone and Waters, with each pitcher allowing but three hits. Waters fanned six men, and Stone fanned a like number.

Both teams scored their lone run in the second inning on bunched hits.

HELEN WILLS

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Miss Helen Wills, three-time winner of the U. S. tennis title and ex-queen by virtue of her forced withdrawal last season, is off for Europe to tune up for the campaign to regain her crown.

Last spring she invaded Europe intent upon defeating the French maid. In a series of tourneys leading up to their meeting Miss Wills defeated such European stars as Didi Vlasto, Miss Frances Bendit, Rosine Vlasto, Mlle. Contoslavos, Mrs. R. E. Haylock and Eileen Bennett.

Then, facing Mlle. Lenglen at Cannes, February 16, she went down to defeat 6-3, 8-6.

After that defeat came more victories over Frau Nelly Neppach, Elia de Alvarez and others. In all she won a total of 650 games out of 800 played on the French Riviera, and later several matches in Italy.

She was stricken ill and operated on for appendicitis, June 4. This forced her withdrawal from the U. S. national tourney won by Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, whose reign Miss Wills ended in 1923.

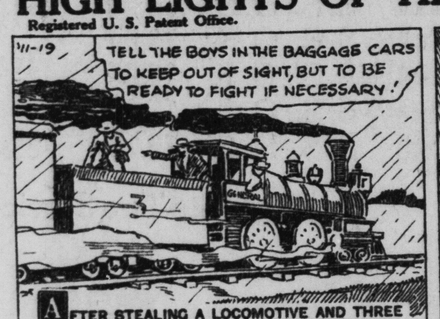
The Georgia Railroad Raid (Part Five) by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



AFTER STEALING A LOCOMOTIVE AND THREE BAGGAGE CARS FROM THE CONFEDERATES AT BIG SHANTY (GA.), ANDREWS AND HIS UNION RAIDERS SPED AWAY TO THE NORTH ON THEIR BRIDGE-BURNING MISSION. THERE WAS NO TELEGRAPH STATION AND NO OTHER LOCOMOTIVE AT BIG SHANTY, SO FOR THE MOMENT NO PURSUIT WAS FEARED. AS THEY NEARED ETOWAH STATION, HOWEVER, THEY STOPPED, CUT THE WIRE AND LOOSENED A RAIL BEHIND THEM.

THE UNEXPECTED THEFT OF THE TRAIN HAD BEWILDERED MOST OF THE CONFEDERATES LEFT BEHIND AT BIG SHANTY, BUT TWO MEN DIVINED THE TRUE SITUATION AND STARTED IN PURSUIT ON FOOT. THESE WERE FULLER, THE CONDUCTOR, AND MURPHY, ANOTHER RAILROAD EMPLOYEE.

BEFORE THEY HAD GONE FAR, FULLER AND MURPHY FOUND A HAND CAR BESIDE THE TRACKS AND, MOUNTING IT ON THE RAILS TOOK UP THE CHASE AT A FAIR RATE OF SPEED.

SUDDENLY, AND WITHOUT WARNING, THE HANDCAR STRUCK A PLACE IN THE TRACKS WHERE THE RAIDERS HAD LOOSENED A RAIL AND THE TWO PURSUERS WERE THROWN INTO A DITCH.

Sinclair Sentenced To Three Months For Contempt Of Senate

Sinclair Attorneys Appeal Case; Conviction Stay Granted

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil magnate, was sentenced to three months imprisonment in federal prison for contempt of the United States Senate. He also was fined $500.

Sentence was pronounced by Justice Hitz in District Supreme Court before whom the oil magnate was tried and convicted some weeks ago of refusing to answer questions propounded to him during the senate's investigation of his lease of the Teapot Dome Reserve.

Sinclair, however, will not begin to serve his sentence, as his attorneys have appealed the conviction to higher courts, and will eventually take it to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Bellanca Plane May Not Attempt Flight To Paris

Flight Of Bellanca Plane Depends On Lindbergh's Hop Today

(International News Service)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., May 20.—The Bellanca monoplane Columbia will be withdrawn from the New York-Paris race if Captain Charles Lindbergh successfully completes the non-stop, 3,600-mile flight which he started this morning, an official of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation announced today.

"We wish Lindbergh all the luck in the world", he said, "and if he makes the flight to Paris we will not attempt it. If he should fail, the Columbia is ready to start."

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 20.—Sharp decline and recovery of the so-called merger railroad stocks in the stock market today followed the Interstate Commerce Commission's disapproval of L. F. Loree's plan for unification of the Kansas City Southern, Katy and Cotton Belt railroads.

Kansas City Southern common stock suffered a loss of 6 points on its first sale of 7,000 shares at $50 a share, but in extremely heavy trading the stock quickly recovered to 53¾. Missouri, Kansas, Texas, (Katy) opened at 43⅛, compared with the previous close at 46, but this stock also rallied sharply to 45. Wabash recovered to 71 after its initial sale at 69½.

The same was true of the Nickel Plate merger shares, which sold at their lowest prices at the opening of the market, and quickly recovered. Rock Island, Chicago Northwestern and other of the spectacular performers of the early part of the month also resumed their advances, Rock Island jumping to 103, the highest price in the history of the stock.

"Money-Making" Machine Fails, Loss Is $2,000

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 20.—Frank Bergin today had lost his life savings amounting to $2,000 he bought a "money-making" machine from two strangers. When it failed to work he searched in vain for the salesmen, and finally appealed to detectives for aid.

Arch Miller, a suspect was arrested.

Report Hankow Is In Flames

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, May 20.—Many sensational and unconfirmed reports regarding Hankow were in circulation here today.

One report is that Hankow has been captured and is burning.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Dan Howley, taking charge of the St. Louis Browns last winter as his first major league managerial assignment, did not promise a pennant for the St. Louis fans. He did, however, predict that the far western entry in the American League would give the fans the best it had.

To that extent Howley is making good. The Browns are a fighting, threatening ball club at all times. Their position in the league race does not do Howley's efforts justice.

Right now the team is handicapped more by poor fielding than the uncertain pitching. Recent statistics show his club ranking last in fielding.

That the club should produce such ragged fielding is a bit mystifying in that it numbers among its regulars several men who should be sure-fire fielders—George Sisler at first, Gerber at short, the handy O'Rourke at third, old Ken Williams and young Rice in the outfield and Wallie Schange and Steve O'Neill behind the plate.

Vance's first starts of the season were terrible affairs. He was hammered to all corners of the lot. Just when the Dodgers needed him most he was unable to win a game.

Then, a few days ago, he started to win. And three straight victories with his hypnotic arm gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a record of eight wins in eleven starts—with the sign out to keep on going.

Now it may be that Vance was not himself early in the season. But there is a more likely probability that Vance was working for a new berth.

The Dodgers started the season as a misfit aggregation, bound for nowhere. The winter season had seen half a dozen of the game's outstanding stars traded and usually to a stronger club. Vance was overlooked. I am of the opinion that the failure of the Dodgers to accept any offers for him disappointed him.

His reversal of form probably started when the club made it very clear to him that he was not to be put on the block, regardless of the need for rebuilding the club elsewhere or because of his poor showing.

Meanwhile the Giants' chances for landing the National League flag are improving by leaps and bounds—in a direct ratio with the improvement in the pitching furnished by the mound staff. Barnes, Henry, Grimes, Fitzsimmons and McQuillan, pitching as they have been since the first of May, ought to be able to carry the Giants through the campaign, considering the offensive and defensive strength of the team.

Pittsburgh Police Probe Slaying Of Restaurant Owner

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 20.—Belief that a double-barreled shotgun was used instead of a machine gun, as at first reported in slaying Louis Lamendola, 35, restaurant proprietor, was expressed by the police homicide squad today.

Lamendola was known to police as the "big gorilla." They were investigating the theory that the killing was the result of a breach within Lamendola's own circle and that a dispute over bootleg liquor might be involved.

Weight was given this theory by the finding of the shotgun with which Lamendola was believed to have been killed. It was abandoned in a boulevard by the assassins in their haste to get away. Shells found in Lamendola's apartment fitted the shotgun.

"King" Benjamin Trapped By Wife, Witness Reveals

(International News Service)

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., May 20. — "King" Benjamin Purnell, leader of the House of David, was trapped in one of his alleged "blood purification rites" by his wife, "Queen" Mary Purnell, according to testimony today by Mrs. Virginia Smith Wheeler, of New York, former alleged favorite of Purnell.

Mrs. Wheeler related the alleged dramatic scene in the State's suit to dissolve the cult.

"King" Ben, she said, introduced her into his mysterious rites by explaining he was the younger brother of Christ who would cleanse her blood and give her eternal life.

Miner Jailed After Threat To Blow Up Pittsburgh Mine

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 20.—Accused of threatening to blow up the Pittsburgh Coal Company mine near Hills Station, Adelelmo Sciarretta, a miner, was given a hearing here today and held for court. He was remanded to jail in default of $1,000 bail.

The miner is alleged to have said he knew where there was a gas pocket in the mine, which could be used in blowing up the mine.

Aged State Highway Commissioner Dies

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 20. — Joseph W. Hunter, 73, first highway commissioner of Pennsylvania, was dead at his home here today after a brief illness.

Hunter, who was stricken at his desk in the state highway department, died shortly before midnight. He was commissioner of the department from 1903 to 1911.

New Merger Plans Before Commission

B. R. & P. Railroad Effected In Latest Effort By Loree

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 20. — Undaunted by the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in disapproving the merger of certain southwestern railroads, L. F. Loree made another attempt today to convince the commission that the Delaware and Hudson should be permitted to lease the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh.

In a brief filed by Charles Evans Hughes, it was set forth that grouping the Delaware and Hudson with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, with connecting trackage over Pennsylvania lines from Buttonwood to Dubois, "will create a new and efficient transportation unit, resulting in real, undoubted and substantial public gain."

Secure provision will thus be made for replacing with bituminous coal the anthracite now furnished from mines served by the Delaware and Hudson as their production diminishes and disappears, the brief said. Furthermore, regularity of movement is assured to iron ore producers in the Adirondacks, a benefit to them and to Pennsylvania furnaces using their ore.

France Takes Lead In Tennis Tourney

(International News Service)

STADE FRANCAIS, ST. CLOUD, May 20.—France took the first victory in the Franco-American tennis team matches here today, when Jean Borotra defeated Francis Hunter of the United States, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Englishwomen now have an average expectation of life of 60 years; this is eleven years more than in 1890.

Makes Soviet Raid

A tense situation between Russia and England has been created by a raid upon the offices, in London, occupied by the Russian trade delegation and Arcos Limited, a buying and selling agency for the all-Russian Co-Operative Society. Sir William Joynson-Hicks, above, British home secretary, ordered the raid

Chicago Banker Is Under Arrest In Defraud Case

Charge President Of Chicago Joint Land Bank With Using Mails To Defraud

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., May 20.—Guy Huston, president of the Chicago Joint Stock Land bank, was at liberty here today on $25,000 bail furnished by a bonding concern, following his arrest on the Twentieth Century limited here last night, on federal warrants issued in connection with a secret indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud.

Huston entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner F. W. Gaines immediately after he had been taken from the train by federal officers.

The warrant charged specifically that Huston sent letters to L. D. Dorney, of Findley, Ohio, to Park S. Bishop, Delta, O., and to George N. York Co., Cleveland, O., in connection with companies promoted by Huston, it is alleged in violation of the postal laws.

Federal officials declared that Huston is under indictment in other cases in Minnesota, in which he is charged with violation of national banking laws and misuse of the mails.

The transactions for which Huston was indicted in the Ohio cases relate to the alleged sale of stock in Farmers Fund, of Illinois, Inc., the Farms company of Massachusetts, and the Missouri-Kansas Farms Co., of Kansas City. Misrepresentation of the value of the stock and the dividends to be expected from it forms the basis of the alleged postal violations.

Austrian Imposter Released From Jail, Faces Deportation

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., May 20.—George T. Gabor, Austria, who was dined and feted at the homes of famous industrial leaders here while posing at "Baron Von Krupp," son of the German munition manufacturer, was released from the New Castle county workhouse today. Gabor was sentenced to nine months in the jail after being convicted of passing several worthless checks.

The "baron" will be deported federal authorities say.

Pitt Freshman Drowns In Pool

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 20. — Michael Santi, 18, a freshman in the University of Pittsburgh, was dead here today, a victim of drowning. The youth, who was believed to be from Beaver Falls, had gone in swimming at the pool in the University's gymnasium. A number of his classmates were with him, but when they left, did not miss him.

P. J. Corr, swimming instructor found the youth's body at the bottom of the pool. Every effort was made to revive him,
